Growth of the State College of Washington

USUALLY we think of growth of an institution of higher learning in terms of new buildings, larger acreage, additional books, and increase in students and faculty. This kind of growth at the State College of Washington is abundantly evident; but there is a finer and truer growth that cannot be measured by mere physical expansion. Increased enrollment and additions to the faculty roster, more bricks and acres, and more class rooms, are important, tangible things. But the true value of an institution is to be measured largely in the character, capacity, and vision of the young men and women sent from its doors.

We are giving better vocational and cultural training to our men and women than we have ever been able to give before; but best of all, we are increasing the number of serious-minded graduates who are able to show independence of thought and action. It is a simple axiom that mere study is not sufficient; one must think to be able to grow, to serve, and to lead.

Emerson once said, "Thought is the seed of action." Thomas Edison was asked the question recently "Why do so many men never amount to anything?" And he answered this question by saying "Because they do not think." Again Emerson has said, "There is no thought in any mind but it quickly tends to convert itself into power."

As I have said above, we have an increasing number of thoughtful students who go out into life with the ability to think for themselves. Also the scientific work of the college, in recent years, has deepened and expanded and borne a very rich fruitage; and the faculty and experimental staff have advanced in scholarship and experience—qualities that stand for thinking power and growth.

With each generation of students, the State College reaches higher ground. With this added growth and new strength, this institution is providing a rich heritage and proving a true blessing to the state and to the thousands of young people who will be enrolled here in the years to come.

Thus the State College of Washington is growing steadily and is rendering wide and worthy service to the entire commonwealth.

O. L. WALLER, Vice President

EXPANSION

EXPANDING from a tiny three-building institution comprised of a heating plant, a barn, and a farm house in 1893, into a campus including 49 buildings of various size and with entirely modern equipment in 1929, the State College of Washington has more than kept pace with the forward movement of the twentieth century.

One hundred ten freshmen, who made up the entire student organization, answered the first roll call, coming to the college certainly not for the gaiety that makes up the present-day campus social curriculum; rather for the opportunity offered for industrial and commercial study. The Pullman they found was a boardwalk city with a population of 1300, alive with the activity that accompanied a Palouse country farming town of that day. Two railroads and two banks were the principal centers of interest, carrying on their business with the mechanical aid of a few carbon electric lights, telephoneless, citizens going from place to place by some means of horse-locomotion.

At the present time, more than 3000 students attend the State College, supplementing the courses taken in the well-equipped laboratories and lecture rooms with social activity centering about 34 group houses, as well as dormitories and off-campus organizations. Downtown, the growth is reflected in an increase of 1200% in bank business, while churches, business houses, and general civic improvements speak for the rating of the Pullman Chamber of Commerce.

The years have wrought great changes, and in all we have a better college than in the early days; the young people are quite as earnest as were their predecessors; their morals are high; their business understandings are better, because general present-day conditions offer improved opportunities which the students as a whole are eagerly taking advantage of.

DR. ENOCH A. BRYAN

EXPANSION

A COMPLETE file of the Chinook, from the small thin blue book published thirty years ago to the present volume, is the best illustration possible of what the word "expansion" means in the life of this great university.

I use the word "university" advisedly, for no one who knows the facts in the case, and who makes a careful use of words, can deny that this institution measures up to the full standard of the name "university" in view of its five large colleges and a like number of well equipped schools, its broad curriculum, its standard requirements for admission and graduation, its faculty, its student enrollment, and its facilities for graduate study.

There is nothing paradoxical in saying "The State College is a University." It is the thing itself and not its given name that determines its genera and species. This college has grown from small things to great, and its genus and not its name determines its classification.

On the 12th day of January, 1892, this institution opened its doors with sixteen students. Twenty-four years later, it closed the year with an enrollment of 1760. This year, its enrollment will record double that number.

This is expansion in numbers.

Were we to examine in detail other things: financial resources, equipment, curricula, services rendered, or position among its kind in our greater national commonwealth, we would be confronted with the irrefutable evidence of the expansion of the college.

Material things are not the only ways in which an educational institution may expand. Such a corporate existence seems to be the embodiment of a soul. It is our chief concern, in accordance with the law of life itself which seeks expansion and the fullest expression, that we should so live and so direct our aspirations and activities that the expansion of this institution shall be of that beneficent spiritual type which will be a blessing to our fellows and to the race.

DEAN ANNIE M. FERTIG

DEAN OF WOMEN

GROWTH is an indication of life. Growth is necessary if life continues to be valuable, or even to be. When a person or an institution ceases to grow, deterioration and decay set in and the end is only a matter of time.

Enlarged bulk and augmented numbers are often signs of growth, but heightened ideals resulting in increased efficiency offer a still higher test. This institution has grown phenomenally in numbers, but I see with greater pride our best expansion indicated by the heightened purposes which challenge the best efforts of faculty and students, through growing intellectual appreciation, through enlarged sympathies, through a finer way of life whose "reach and grasp" shall both, year by year, continue to extend.

DEAN CARL MORROW

DEAN OF MEN

THE guidance of "the man behind the desk" in scholarship, extra-curricular activities, and social life has been of prime importance in the advancement of the State College and its men.

The students have a person to whom they may look for counsel in all of their problems. The spirit which has prevailed since the Dean assumed his duties here three years ago, yet dominates. The men as a unit have become conscious of their common purpose and responsibility and have cooperated to reach their goal.

Each year the Dean of Men has assumed new activity and the efficiency of his office has been well maintained. The success of his work, in close cooperation with the Dean of Women, commands the respect of the entire student association.

COLLEGE OF MECHANIC ARTS AND ENGINEERING

DEVELOPMENT of engineering and its related sciences has been actively encouraged at the State College of Washington since its earliest beginnings. Among the most promising and influential of our graduates are to be found many of the technical men who earned their diplomas during those early years.

From the first, the curricula offered in engineering were of high standard as compared with other institutions of the time. The spectacular development of engineering and the improving technique of engineering instruction have caused the training offered in these lines to become increasingly specialized. Latest devices have been added to the shops and laboratories as rapidly as possible and the curricula in the different divisions of engineering have been gradually narrowed down in order that the graduate may be given a satisfactory grasp of fundamental principles of his own particular work. Thus the growth in equipment and in the complexity of the principles taught has been fully as great as the increase in enrollment in the engineering courses during the past quarter of a century.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCES AND ARTS

IN THIS division, the largest of the State College, we find grouped the basic sciences and the subjects commonly designated by the collective term "liberal arts." Because of the fundamental relation of its work to that of all other divisions, this college gives instruction to every student on the campus. As a foundation for general education, the student, whatever his major interest, wishes to add to his proficiency in English, and the study of the social sciences prepares any man or woman for greater usefulness in meeting the duties of citizenship.

The function of the College of Sciences and Arts is not limited to furnishing fundamental preparation in the applied fields of study. Each of the nine departments offers direct training for professional careers.

Several important changes in organization have been effected during the past year. The former Department of Business Administration is now known as the School of Business Administration. Sociology has been separated from this division and now functions as an independent department. New courses in philosophy have been added and are grouped as a division of the Department of Sociology. History and political science have grown in importance to an extent warranting the formation of a separate department.

All departments grant the M. A. or M. S. degree, and several offer programs leading to the Doctor's degree.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

THE School of Education, established in 1917 to aid in the training of high school teachers, supervisors of special subjects, and superintendents, grew out of the department established in 1907 under the same name. In addition to its regular work, the school sponsors two national education honorary fraternities, namely, Phi Delta Kappa for men, and Pi Lambda Theta for women students.

The faculty of the school is drawn from a number of leading institutions including Clark University, Columbia University, University of Chicago, Harvard University and McGill University. The School of Education is one of the main connecting links between the college and the high school, as well as other schools in the state. Each year a large percentage of students enrolling in education enter after two years of normal training and teaching experience.

Each spring the department conducts a High School Conference which is widely attended and at which time some educator of note is the chief speaker. During the summer session, education is the leading major of those enrolled, and the department offers a number of courses especially arranged for principals and superintendents.

The School of Education graduates one-fourth of its total enrollment each year, and is making steady advancement in its graduate work.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

THE State College of Washington was primarily a college of agriculture, and while it is no longer devoted solely to farm problems, it has done a great deal toward agricultural advancement. At present various types of farm and field work, as well as landscape gardening, forestry, range management, agricultural journalism, and teaching courses are offered besides subjects allied to agriculture in business.

The enrollment this year is twenty-five per cent larger than a year ago, obviously showing an increase of interest in agriculture as a business and as a profession. The freshman class is the largest class that has been enrolled in the college for nine years.

A new greenhouse, to be used for experimental work, was completed this fall. The departments of animal and dairy husbandry have made outstanding records for the year, taking several honors in the cattle shows held in Portland. Realizing that agricultural prosperity is a necessity for the life of the growing population, the College of Agriculture keeps its ideals in mind, yearly training many students to contribute toward making the agricultural methods of the United States outstanding among nations.

COLLEGE OF HOME ECONOMICS

THE College of Home Economics began this year in its new building, which is modern in every effect, thus offering maximum opportunity for every student, man or woman, who is interested in any phase of foods, textiles, home or institutional management. On the first floor there is a large hospitality room with a service kitchen to be used for formal gatherings and art exhibits. A cafeteria kitchen and dining room will provide opportunity for institutional management majors to get practice in preparing large quantities of food and in administering a cafeteria. The Y. W. C. A. office and rest room are also found on the first floor, as well as class rooms, offices of the Research Specialists and the Dean. The Home Equipment laboratory with its electrical appliances and testing equipment is one of the most interesting places on this floor.

Ample space is available on the second floor for the textile and clothing laboratories, testing rooms, offices and class rooms. The third floor provides a place for the food and nutrition division. The animal nutrition unit will be established on the top floor; also a large fireplace room for various organizations.

Another feature of the College of Home Economics is the Nursery school. Here, observation and experience enables students to know the needs, abilities and general reactions of small children, instilling in them ideals and a keen sense of their responsibility regarding the physical and mental development of youngsters. Since education for homemaking is a keynote in Home Economics teaching, it follows that an essential part of such instruction is that most important function of the home, child care.

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

THERE has never been a time when Veterinary Medicine was used in so many practical ways, as it is today, the profession lending its services to the betterment of the great livestock industry, and to the preservation of human health. The enrollment figures of September 1928 show that there is more than a thirty per cent increase in the freshman classes in the veterinary colleges of the United States and Canada than there was one year previous. For a number of years renewed interest has been apparent, but it remained for the last two years to show a definite increase in the number of students taking major courses in this line of work.

In addition to their work as practitioners, many veterinarians are entering special fields of service. Large forces are employed by the Federal and State governments to control the spread of diseases among livestock, while cities employ veterinarians to insure the wholesomeness of their meat and milk supplies. The services connected with the control of the diseases that spread from animal to man has become so important that it has attracted the attention of the most prominent men of the veterinary profession. The possibilities in this field seem almost unlimited, and many men are taking up the work in Veterinary Medicine with the intention of following some phase of applied sanitary science.

Many of the men are finding practical employment in experimental work, and as teachers. Others are giving their whole time to laboratory diagnosis work and are working in the field of animal medicine.

SCHOOL OF MINES AND GEOLOGY

ACCORDING to Herbert C. Hoover, president of the United States, the profession of mining engineering has assumed a new significance in the last decade.

"The high intelligence demanded by the vocation itself, and the revolution in training caused by the strengthening of its foundation in general education, has finally, beyond all question, raised the work of application of science to industry to the dignity of a profession on a par with that of law, medicine, and science. It demands of its members equally high mental attainments, and a more rigorous training and experience. Despite all this, industry is conducted for commercial purposes, and leaves no room for the haughty intellectual superiority assumed by some professions over business callings . . .

"The very essence of the profession is that it calls upon its members to direct men. They are the officers in the great industrial army . . . officers on outpost duty.

"In but few of the greatest works does the personality of its real creator reach the world; but the engineering profession rises yearly in dignity and importance, as the rest of the world learns more of where the real brains of industrial progress are. To the engineer falls the work of creating from the dry bones of fact the living body of industry."

Herbert Hoover, himself a graduate of the school of mining at Stanford University, is ample proof that the profession numbers among its members some of the strongest brain power and leadership in America.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND FINE ARTS

MUSIC, fine arts and speech are three departments of an entirely different nature, yet at the State College of Washington they cooperate very successfully. One of the main purposes of the school is to offer a more cultural course in liberal arts to any person enrolled, and with the completion of the new Home Economics building, Van Doren hall has been remodelled for the use of the departments of music and speech, thus providing more room and better facilities for the department.

The weekly music recitals, radio programs and vesper services have been very successful. The Department of Fine Arts has provided several exhibits, paintings being brought to the college by the American Federation of Arts. The selected works are sent out by contemporary artists, and individual pictures range in price from fifty dollars to several thousand dollars. These exhibits give the students, faculty and townspeople an opportunity to become familiar with modern art movements. The speech department endeavors to attain near professional productions in its presentation of approximately four plays a year.

The School of Music and Fine Arts offers the students of the State College of Washington æsthetic opportunities in an effort to properly round out the education of those enrolled in any of its schools.

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

THE aim of physical education is primarily health. It is an end to be attained rather than a subject to be studied. Unless correct health habits are actually formed, knowledge is of little avail. To form such habits, in many instances, requires considerable discipline of self.

With our new gymnasium, we are now splendidly equipped to put on an extensive program of recreation and physical exercise for all of our students. We are now offering thirty sport activities, from which men may choose. With ample modern facilities, our young men can now really experience the joy of effort in all types of contests. Those with special athletic ability have ample opportunity to try for the varsity teams in the several major and minor sports.

No longer need we neglect the physically deficient. Those not able to do regular work in this department are assigned to corrective classes, where, under the supervision of a specialist, they are given individual attention. This division of the department has already shown splendid results.

For those desiring to become leaders in this type of work, we are offering a Normal Training Course leading to a Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education. The general awakening of interest throughout the nation in health and recreation, opens up a growing field requiring trained leadership of this type.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

THE State College of Washington School of Pharmacy, established in 1892, at the present time rates as one of the ten leading colleges of Pharmacy in the United States. The school now offers three courses: a three-year course; a four-year business and pharmacy course; and a four-year combination pharmacy and pre-medicine course.

In the Pharmacy and Business course the work is so arranged that the student gets all the work in pharmacy together with the essential business courses required for the intelligent owning and operating of a drug business.

The four-year course, combining pharmacy and pre-medicine, fits the students for entrance to the best medical colleges of the country. It offers the pre-medical student, who has training and a degree in Pharmacy, a great opportunity to work his way through the medical school.

In addition to the courses as outlined above, advanced graduate work is offered. The school is perhaps the best equipped with research apparatus and equipment for giving advanced work of any school of Pharmacy in the west.

The demand for graduates in this department of the State College of Washington has constantly exceeded the supply. Study of statistics shows that few institutions in the United States have equalled the record made by the number of graduates at the State College successful in state board examinations.

HELEN G. SMITH

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

THE aim of the Department of Physical Education for women is to promote the physical welfare of college women and to train majors for teachers' and supervisors' positions. This year the department has a home of its own for the first time, the old gymnasium being redecorated and equipped to fit the needs of the women. The building, in conjunction with the women's field, the tennis courts, and the new swimming pool, has added much to the department.

The department offers courses in its schedule which include archery, hockey, fieldball, tennis, volleyball, swimming, interpretative dancing, apparatus, baseball, basketball, horseback riding, field and track, and rifle marksmanship. This year the formal gymnastics are given only to the women who failed in the motor agility tests, or those who needed special attention in physical education.

Last spring was the second year that the camp course in recreation leadership had been given. This course has been organized for the study of camp craft, camp organization and camp program building, and features an annual summer outing at Lake Sweyolaken.

This year there was an increase in physical education majors over those enrolled last year, and almost one thousand women are taking one of the various courses in the physical work.

DIVISION OF GENERAL COLLEGE EXTENSION

THE Division of General College Extension serves the student before he reaches the college, after he graduates, and whenever he is obliged to remain away from the Campus for a semester or two.

The student who must be out of school temporarily finds the college credit courses given through correspondence instruction of particular value. There are over a hundred of these courses with about eight hundred students enrolled. This enrollment is made up largely of students from our own and other colleges who are teaching or are otherwise employed until they can return to complete the work for their degrees. An average of fourteen students complete correspondence courses in every month of the year.

Another department of this division conducts extension courses in city centers, sending resident members of the faculty to give the lectures. Each year about seven hundred people enroll in these classes for college credit, or only for the pleasure of continuing their cultural advancement. Some of them already have advanced degrees.

Grade and high school students, who may some day enter the college, are served by the visual education department through its library of over four hundred reels of educational motion pictures. These pictures aid in vitalizing instruction in history, natural science, geography, agriculture, and literature. About twenty-eight thousand students and club members were assisted by this means last year.

This division also aids in arranging for commencement addresses, lectures, and music recitals in communities all over the state, thus serving thousands of citizens in Washington.

BURSAR AND REGISTRAR

FROM the first day of enrollment until the last day in school, every student comes into direct contact with the activity of the bursar and registrar, who begin their work with the first request for information regarding the institution, and never close their books on the record of any student ever enrolled at the State College of Washington.

William C. Kruegel, Bursar, has been interested in the welfare of the State College since his undergraduate days, being a member of the class of 1902, the first to be given degrees from Washington Agricultural College. At the present time, his work with the finances of administration make him an essential factor in the execution of the educational program of the State College.

Frank T. Barnard, Registrar, is also an alumnus of the State College, and has been associated with the institution in a graduate capacity since 1908. In his files one will find a complete record of every individual who has ever taken work at the institution.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

"IN ORDER to secure a greater unity among the graduates of the college in perpetuating love for our Alma Mater, contributing to its general welfare, and maintaining fellowship among ourselves, we hereby constitute ourselves the 'Alumni Association of the State College of Washington.'"

Such is the purpose of the Alumni Association which was organized in June, 1897, by the first graduating class. Both graduates and former students are eligible for membership.

The association meets at Homecoming time and on Alumni Day. It chooses its officers from the nominations of the Executive Committee. The official magazine, "The Alumnus," is issued monthly during the school year, carrying the news of the college and its alumnæ.

WALTER R. ROWE

BOARD OF REGENTS

WITH the death of A. Duncan Dunn on March 18, 1929, the State College of Washington lost one who had put many years into building the facilities and prestige of the college through his executive efforts. As his successor, Walter R. Rowe was selected. Mr. Rowe, a member of the state House of Representatives, and a prominent farmer of Yakima Valley, is a former student of W. S. C.

The other members of the board are:

J. H. Hulbert, President . . . . . Mount Vernon
Arthur W. Davis, Vice President . . . . . Spokane
W. A. Ritz . . . . . Walla Walla
F. J. Wilmer . . . . . Rosalia

STUDENT ADMINISTRATION

ERWIN MCDOWELL, President A. S. S. C. W.

A. S. S. C. W.

THE president of the Associated Students of the State College of Washington finds many duties to claim his time. He is the chairman of the Board of Control, which, in conjunction with the graduate manager, directs the affairs of the students.

The board is made up of the officers of the Associated Students which include a president, vice president, and secretary, who meet with the following elected officers: Senior, junior and sophomore representatives, men's member-at-large, and the president of the Associated Women Students as an ex-officio member. This is the first year that representatives of the two lower classes have held seats in the council, but the experiment has worked very well.

There are many active committees engaged in the work of the student body. One of the largest is the Booster Committee, which plans the annual Homecoming. Arrangements for the publicity, homecoming signs, and the Alumni Banquet are a few of the matters it handles. In short, they make the "Spirit of Welcome." Their duties, however, are not confined to this event alone. Throughout the year they stage dances in cities over the state during vacations, and care for such other details as their name suggests.

The Rally Committee functions chiefly in the maintaining of loyalty among the students. To it falls the preparations for pep-rallies, send-offs and rallies for the athletic teams. This is also a standing committee whose influence is continuously extended.

Entertainment at the A. S. S. C. W. meeting is prepared by the Lectures and Entertainments Committee. This body is also responsible for the various lectures and features of entertainment which are brought to the campus.

The Social and Health committees are others which claim a place of importance. The former stages all-college social events, and the latter considers measures to safeguard the health of the student, and make the hospital a better place in which to stay when it becomes necessary.

Thus the board and the president administrate over the affairs and all phases of activity of the student association. With representation from every quarter, the work is executed in the best interests of and for the general progress of the State College.

EARL V. FOSTER, Graduate Manager

A. S. S. C. W.

IN KEEPING with the steady growth of the State College there has been similar advancement in the business organization of the Associated Students. The latest progressive move of the organization was to incorporate last year, giving stability and continuity to the ever-increasing amount of business activity that comes under its direction. Under the present system the student governing body, acting through the graduate manager, has complete control of all Associated Student operations.

Through the board of control, consisting of eleven members, student sentiment is expressed. Representatives from the student body at large, the three upper classes, the Associated Women Students and the athletic council have places on the democratic executive council of the student organization which includes all undergraduates regularly enrolled in college.

A variety of activities comes under the control of the Associated Students. All branches of athletics including major and minor sports are sponsored by the organization, which also directs the operation of the three college publications, the Evergreen, Cougar's Paw, and Chinook. The annual state-wide glee club tours as well as various forms of campus entertainment are given under the auspices of the student administration.

Direction of a business involving approximately $200,000 a year signifies the importance of the incorporated organization. All available surplus finances are being skillfully handled for the promotion of a "greater State College of Washington."

TED ROHWER

BOARD of CONTROL

A distinctive feature of the work of the Board of Control is the joint meeting with the corresponding body at the University of Idaho, at which time the officials of the two schools take up various phases of interschool contact, and work out mutual problems. The meeting is usually held in the form of a luncheon or dinner. This year the Idaho board entertained the members of the State College council at a formal dinner.

AGNES DRISCOLL

With the incorporation of the student body, added responsibility was given to the board, who are among the most outstanding students enrolled in school.

LOYD A. BURY

Assistant Graduate Manager, and Manager of Lectures and Entertainments

To the manager of lectures and entertainments committee, falls the responsibility of arranging for and taking charge of every artist or company brought here during the school year. This year, Loyd Bury, acting in the capacity of assistant to the graduate manager, has handled the details connected with the concerts, plays and individual artists presented here under the auspices of the Associated Students.

SENIORS

On September 27, 1925, the class of '29 began its career. Lee Wilson as president; Joseph Blum, vice president; Caroline Brush, secretary, and Catherine Scott, treasurer, led the class during the first semester. In the traditional sophomore-freshman supremacy contest, the yearlings lost the title, but won a "moral victory" in the tug-of-war. Before the W. S. C.-Idaho game, the frosh built and guarded the annual bonfire, upholding the tradition of improving it each year. National publicity was gained by the class when an airplane was chartered to fly to Moscow in an attempt to ignite the University of Idaho bonfire by dropping bombs.

A few weeks after school started the frosh-soph mix was held.

The football season was very successful, with the largest turnout in years. Of the four games played, the frosh won three and tied one. Among the stars developed this season were "Meg" Dressel, "Teddy" Rohwer, Dan Horan, Harry Spiedel. Dressel, a three-year football letterman and the outstanding player of the 1928 season, was named in the "Who's Who in American Sports," besides being placed on the third All-American team and several coast honor teams. Dressel and Horan played in the East-West game at Pasadena, California. Rohwer, a three-year letterman in football, basketball and baseball, was named on several all-Coast teams.

SENIORS

The officers selected for the second semester were: Wendell Hitchcock, president; Louise Kelsey, vice president; Lucile Hover, secretary, and Carl Peterson, treasurer.

During the sophomore year the leadership of the class was entrusted to Ted Rohwer, president; Leo Barret, vice president; Lloyd Pound, secretary, and Margaret Andrews, treasurer. To distinguish the class, the official garb selected was a navy blue felt hat with a gold band.

The second semester officers were Erwin MacDowell, president; True Ouilette, vice president; Louise Kelsey, secretary, and Gordon Findley, treasurer.

The junior year was marked by participation of class members in student body, club and varsity athletic activities. Their officers for the first semester were True Ouilette, president; Burt Keener, vice president; Burnette Grimes, secretary, and Lloyd Birkett, treasurer. Second semester officers were Burt Keener, president; Guy Di Julio, vice president; Bonnie Murray, secretary; Dale Whiteman, treasurer.

The important feature of the year was Junior Week-end. The Junior Prom, characterized by the modernistic idea, and the election of Hilda Floe as Prom queen were the outstanding events. Joseph Blum, Roy Huse, Dick Dunning and Lloyd Birkett were in charge. The Prom committee consisted of Kennard Jones, Helene Ingersoll, Frances Raichle, Ralph McBride, Mary Maude Hungate, Burt Keener, Jack Littlemore, Ted Rohwer, James Gilleland, Dea Davis and Al Daubert.

JUNIORS

THE first Freshman Week held on the Washington State college campus introduced the class of 1930. There were 1003 members enrolled in September, 1926. Foremost among the activities of the class was the valiant fight staged with the sophomore class. Although the beginners lost the fight to the older class, the tug-of-war, the most important event of the meet, came out a tie.

Officers selected to lead the class for the first semester were: President, John Lawson; vice president, Neil McLaughlin; secretary, Ruth Wilson; treasurer, Milton Horn.

An enthusiastic number of men turned out for frosh football. The Evergreen for September 29, 1926, said: "According to the freshman mentors the fellows out are decidedly green, but show great possibilities for producing a winning aggregation." A light, fast team was developed and at the end of the rainy season the froshers had won the Northwest Freshman Championship, having lost only one game, which was with Cheney Normal, by a 13 to 12 score.

The second semester officers were: President, Neil McLaughlin; vice president, Clifford Exley; secretary, Olga Benson; treasurer, George Starlund.

Culminating the first year's activities was a frosh-soph mix held in the gymnasium.

At the first of the sophomore year, a humiliating defeat was suffered at the hands of the frosh in the annual frosh-soph tilt. Officers for this year were: Archie Buckley, president; George Starlund, vice president; Grace Norvell, secretary; Everett Henning, treasurer. The official class distinction chosen was a red sweater with white numerals on it. To acquaint members of the two classes, a frosh-soph mix was staged in the gymnasium.

During the second semester the class leaders were Walter Wyrich, president; Everett Henning, vice president; Mary Alice Sabin, secretary; Wesley Moore, treasurer.

The Junior Week-End put on by the class of 1930 was one of the most successful and interesting of any thus seen at Washington State. The Junior Vodvil held in the auditorium on Friday afternoon opened the gayety. Here students were entertained by several clever acts and also voted for the Prom Queen.

The following night the class of 1930 honored the seniors at the annual Junior Prom. Hundreds of crimson and gray balloons and streamers formed a canopy over the dancers. The feature of the evening was the crowning of Miss Dorothy Robinson as Queen of the Prom.

J. FRED BOHLER AWARD

Dan Horan, for three years a first string halfback on the Cougar varsity, was at the close of the 1928 season awarded State football's highest honor—the Fred J. Bohler medal for being the greatest inspiration to his teammates.

Horan was continually hampered by injuries throughout his gridiron career, but overcame this disadvantage with an exhibition of pluck and fight that helped carry the whole team on through its dark moments. The big halfback was in the game with all he had and was one of Coach Hollingbery's most consistent performers.

Dan entered the State college in 1925 from Oakland Tech., Oakland, Calif., but failed to make his numerals in yearling football when his old injury jinx kept him on the hospital list all season. He came back the next year to win his varsity spurs and was a big cog in the Cougar grid machine. During this first year, which incidentally marked Coach Hollingbery's debut into the "big time" of conference coaching ranks, Dan alternated at halfback and fullback, but in his final two seasons he was the regular right half.

The J. F. Bohler medal, an annual award to the football player proving the greatest inspiration to his teammates

Tremendous speed and power featured Horan's play in the Cougar backfield. Weighing between 190 and 195 pounds, he was a consistent ground gainer and was the rock upon which many enemy plays were smashed to bits. Dan led the State eleven in scoring during the 1928 campaign and ranked third high in the entire Pacific coast conference.

The Bohler medal was first awarded in 1921 and Horan is the eighth Cougar gridder to be thus honored. Men who have won the award are:

1921—Milo McIver.
1922—Ford Dunton.
1923—John Zaephel.
1924—Marvin Hales.
1925—Bill Kramer.
1926—Harold Hansen.
1927—Carl Gustafson.
1928—Dan Horan.

COACH HOLLINGBERY

"WATCH out for Hollingbery and his Cougars" was the cry of rival Pacific coast conference coaches when the 1928 season rolled around. The Washington State coach, better known as "Babe," instilled his own famous fighting spirit into his players with the result that the Cougar team was known as one that fought to the last ditch—a team that was modest in victory and sportsmanlike in defeat.

The 1928 season saw "Babe" in his third year at the helm of Washington State football. Hollingbery took over the reins at the Cougar school in 1926 and incidentally made his debut into the "big time" of Pacific coast conference football coaching. His first year was a successful one and the State eleven went through the season with only one defeat—and that to Southern California's mighty club—to mar an otherwise perfect record. A long-to-be-remembered victory over Washington was scored, 9 to 6, to give Washington State the Northwest conference championship.

The second and third seasons were slightly less impressive than the first, but the State team was always feared for vicious fight and powerful attack. Each year saw the Cougars go down to defeat on three occasions, but nevertheless they finished both times in the first division. W. S. C.'s geographical location prevents the scheduling of many home games and as a result the Cougars always face a season filled with games all along the coast. The players are forced to carry on a lot of their practice in a Pullman car and thus carry a handicap not encountered by teams in larger cities.

A. B. BAILEY
Line Coach

A PICTURESQUE, care-free Texan, with a stentorian voice and genial nature; a powerful man with a pleasant personality; a man with all the grit, fight and determination that you would expect to find in a football coach. That is "Buck" Bailey, line coach and "Babe" Hollingbery's right-hand man.

A few seasons ago, "Buck" was often mentioned as one of the finest guards in the country. Today he is still a young giant who can get into football togs and show his varsity men how things should be done. And he is all the pepper and enthusiasm of the born gridiron fan.

One of "Buck's" important duties during the football season is the task of "scouting" other conference teams. He does this to perfection—although all the while he is gritting his teeth and hoping that the Cougars, a thousand or so miles away, are snarling to another victory.

WILBUR (Doc) BOHM
Trainer

"DOC" BOHM, genial, helpful trainer of State College athletes and athletic teams, needs no introduction here. There are few men on the campus who do not know "Doc" and few whom "Doc" does not know.

When time out is called during a Cougar football game for a "breathing spell" or on account of an injury, Dr. Bohm is unfailingly on the job. Clad in a maroon sweater that reminds us that "Doc" was himself a noted college athlete, he is a familiar figure as he dashes onto the field with his first aid kit and water bucket. When a State college basketball team is in action, "Doc" is on the sideline. During a W. S. C. track meet, "Doc" may always be seen giving some runner a final loosening up before a race, or a helpful rubdown when a race is over. In other words, Dr. Bohm is always "on the job."

"Doc" enjoys making new friends and keeping old ones, just as those friends enjoy meeting him. He is truly an inspiration in State college life.

FIRST division ranking in both the Big Ten of the Pacific Coast and also the Northern division "Little Six" flashed in red capitals across the Washington State football sky as the 1928 grid season passed into history. The ten game schedule was the most hectic of recent years and furnished a gross of thrills and dismal disappointments to Cougar football followers.

Seven games were won and three lost by the proteges of Coach Orin E. (Babe) Hollingbery to give them a season's average of .700 per cent. The Washington State team was topped only by the University of Oregon aggregation in the Northern division final rating, while Stanford, U. S. C., California and Oregon led the Cougars to the wire in the race for the Pacific Coast bunting. Possession of the hardest schedule of any team on the coast helped to cost the Cougars their chances for a title-winning eleven.

Coach Hollingbery was faced with the almost superhuman task of whipping a squad of rookie sophomore players, with only a scattering of veterans, into a creditable grid machine with only one week of practice before the opening game. Whitman, Gonzaga and Montana fell in order before the onslaughts of the inexperienced but fighting Cougar eleven, however, and prospects took on a more roseate hue for a short time. Then came a long trek to California and the Staters took their first jolt of the season from the Golden Bears of the University of California.

The Hollingbery-men then returned to their home turf to cop victories over Oregon State and the College of Idaho. A nine-mile jaunt to Moscow netted them a one-sided victory over the Idaho Vandals, followed by a still easier verdict over the U. C. L. A. gridders, conference babes, at Portland in the first athletic contest ever staged between the two schools.

The last two tilts of the season blotted out all Cougar championship hopes. A 1600-mile trip to Los Angeles and a hot afternoon for the game cost the Cougars a fracas with the national championship Southern California club. On Thanksgiving day, the Staters, war-weary after nine hard battles that involved some 8000 miles of travel, met the University of Washington Huskies at Seattle and dropped a heartbreaking 6 to 0 decision.

WASHINGTON STATE 33—WHITMAN 6

Flashing but little of the drive and power that later made them feared in Coast Conference football circles from Canada to Mexico, Washington State's gridiron warriors opened their 1928 season with an easy 33 to 6 victory over Whitman college on Rogers field. The State eleven had things its own way throughout the game and registered 22 first downs as compared with two for the Missionaries. The tilt was played after only one week of practice and the play of both teams was characterized by typical early season raggedness.

The State victory saw 15 men from the 1927 championship frosh team play in their first varsity competition. A total of 55 players were used by both teams, a steady stream of substitutes going in from the Cougar bench. Teddy Rohwer, Dan Horan, Meg Dressel, Lloyd Hein and the sophomores, Porter Lainhart and Elmer Schwartz, were outstanding in the Washington State victory.

WASHINGTON STATE 3—GONZAGA 0

Running into unexpectedly stiff opposition, the Staters defeated Gonzaga university's fighting Bulldogs, 3 to 0, in one of the most thrilling games ever played between the rival schools. A place kick by Archie Buckley, diminutive quarterback, tallied the winning points in the last four minutes of play and snatched the fracas out of the fire after the Bulldogs had fought the Cougars to a standstill in the first three periods.

The victory was costly to Coach Hollingbery's team, Forrest (Coop) Curry, the only letterman end on the squad, suffering a bad injury to his knee that kept him on the bench nearly all season. The three aces of the State ball-toting department, Teddy Rohwer, Dan Horan, and Porter Lainhart, reeled off long gains in the final drive for victory. Big Elmer Schwartz, sophomore guard, and Speidel and Dressel, veteran tackles, were powerful in the W. S. C. forward wall. Fanny Hunting and Mel Ingram starred in the Gonzaga backfield.

WASHINGTON STATE 26—MONTANA 6

The first conference tilt of the season went down in the win column for W. S. C. as the Cougar gridders upset Montana by a decisive 26 to 6 score at Missoula. The Hollingbery men went on a scoring rampage in the third quarter that netted three touchdowns and put the game on ice.

Vicious tackling and hard play throughout featured the Grizzly defeat. Dan Horan, powerful State warhorse, was the individual star of the afternoon, on one occasion scampering 62 yards through the entire Montana defense for a touchdown. Rohwer and Lainhart also had their usual share in the W. S. C. victory.

Much stronger play by the State Line brought cheer to the Cougar camp. Harry Speidel and Meg Dressel, playing their third year at the tackle posts, smeared many Montana plays aimed their way and gave promise of bolstering the State defense in future battles. The sophomore ends, Hansen and Hill, displayed a much improved brand of ball.

WASHINGTON STATE 3—CALIFORNIA 13

An alert, sticky-fingered California team that took advantage of every Cougar misplay handed the Palouse eleven its first defeat of the season by a 13 to 3 score at Berkeley. The defeat was a heartbreaking one for the Cougars and wiped away their previous high hopes for a Pacific Coast title.

A total of 107 yards were reeled off from scrimmage by the State ball-toters as compared with 74 yards for the winners. The Hollingbery men were on the offensive a major part of the game, but the hard-charging California forwards sifted through the State line to block five punts, and each of the five was a crushing blow to the W. S. C. team.

Sensational work by Meg Dressel was the bright spot in the otherwise in-and-out play of the Cougars. The big tackle discouraged any aspirations the Golden Bears had to make yardage around his side of the line. Dan Horan, playing in his home port, shone in the Cougar backfield along with Porter Lainhart, who hung up the Staters' three counters with a 25-yard place kick.

WASHINGTON STATE 9—OREGON STATE 7

Ten thousand Homecoming fans watched the powerful Cougars turn in their best game of the year to trip up Oregon State's Orange-jerseyed warriors, 9 to 7, on historic Rogers field. As in the Gonzaga victory, a field goal in the closing minutes of the fracas settled the issue.

LYLE MASKELL—End

The O. S. C. gridders, who later electrified the football world and left the East dumbfounded by soundly trouncing New York University's championship team in New York, fought to the last ditch against the Cougars. With the brilliant Howard Maple leading the attack they took the lead in the second period and threatened throughout the game to tally another touchdown. Only superb checking by the Cougars kept Oregon State's dazzling aerial attack from hanging up a second touchdown.

A new star burst into the Cougar constellation in the person of Don MacDonald, slim 160-pound halfback, whose fine all-around play featured the afternoon. MacDonald averaged over 50 yards with his long spirals and his off-tackle drives and end runs paved the way for both State scores. Co-starring with MacDonald were Dressel, Schwartz, Rohwer, and Horan.

Giving credit where credit is due, Howard Maple, sturdy leader of the invading Beavers, turned in as fine an all around performance as has ever been seen in local grid circles. The pudgy field general was the center of every play and his passing and returning of punts was of All-American calibre. Chief Coquelle Thompson, giant Indian fullback, and Henry (Honolulu) Hughes also starred for the losers.

JOHN HURLEY—End

W. S. C. 51—COLLEGE OF IDAHO 0

Coach Hollingbery's first string men sat on the bench and watched the super-varsity soundly trounce the College of Idaho gridders to the tune of 51 to 0. The score was within two points of the 1927 result, when the Cougars won by a 53 to 0 margin.

The victory saw the State reserves rip and tear through the Coyote line for eight touchdowns, four of them being tallied in the last period. The bewildered Idahoans had possession of the ball only a short time and the 12 plays that they did attempt netted them a loss of 14 yards when the State forwards spilled the ball-carriers behind the line of scrimmage.

Three touchdowns in four plays were chalked up by the super-varsity backs in the final period. Johannes made the first with a 22-yard sprint, followed by a 75-yard end run by Jones and a 95-yard return of a kick-off by Tonkin. Twenty-eight players in all were used by Coach Hollingbery.

ELMER SWARTZ—Guard

W. S. C. 26—IDAHO 0

Speed and alertness scored a decisive victory over brawn and power when a fighting Cougar pack invaded Moscow to tame the Vandal with a 26 to 0 whipping. The margin of victory was the greatest enjoyed over Idaho by a State team since 1919 and put the Hollingbery men back in the race for the coast title.

Poor passing by the Idaho backs turned a supposed football game into a scoring spree for the ever-watchful Cougars. The defeat, coming on the Vandals' Homecoming day, was a heartbreaking one for them, but at the same time a sweet morsel for the Staters over their ancient rivals.

The End of a Cougar's Long Run

A twisting, squirming 36-yard run down the sidelines by Teddy Rohwer put the ball on the Vandal one-yard line and paved the way for the Staters' first score. On the first play of the second half Dan Horan intercepted an Idaho pass and scampered 50 yards for the second score. Porter Lainhart duplicated the play a few minutes later and then Horan chalked up his second touchdown of the afternoon late in the game after a drive from mid-field.

The Cougars fattened their scoring total by 38 points at the expense of the University of California, Los Angeles branch, when they journeyed to Portland to score a shutout victory on Multnomah's sawdust field. The Uclas, making their conference debut this season, could not match the speed and power of the Cougars and were hopelessly defeated in the first game ever played between the two schools.

The State ball-toters ripped and tore through the flimsy Bruin defense for a total gain from scrimmage of 467 yards. Oscar Jones, sophomore halfback, reeled off gains of 111 yards and scored two of the six touchdowns for the W. S. C. team. Dan Horan, Court Smith and Bill Linden were the other Cougar backs to cross the Bruin goal line. In the third period Don MacDonald scampered some 68 yards for another touchdown, but the ball was brought back on account of a penalty and the six points were scratched off the score sheet. Coach Hollingbery used his entire squad of 32 men during the game.

"There wasn't a minute that the Cougar wasn't dangerous. He fought one of those 'you're-gonna-get-all-I've-got" battles. And he wasn't whipped until the finishing gun had barked."

These words from the pen of a Los Angeles sport critic sum up Washington State's 27 to 13 defeat at the hands of the University of Southern California in the Coliseum at Los Angeles. The Men-o-Troy, who had the Pacific Coast football crown safely tucked away when the curtain fell on the 1928 season, played heads-up ball all afternoon to cop the victory. The Hollingbery-men fought hard and forced the Trojan to open his bag of tricks wide to win.

Five fumbles, all recovered by eagle-eyed U. S. C. players, defeated the Cougars. Washington State gained nearly as much yardage as the winners, but bobbles by the slippery-fingered State backfield men smothered most of their scoring chances.

STEPHEN CHESTER—End

The Trojans got the jump by tallying two touchdowns before the Staters warmed up to their task. In the closing minutes of the first half the Cougars got their cue and literally battered their way 65 yards down the field to a touchdown. Oscar Jones, reserve half, was just plain dynamite to the Men-o-Troy and lugged the ball over the goal line after carrying the brunt of the Cougar attack for half the length of the field.

The feature of the game was a 90-yard return of the kick-off for a touchdown by Teddy Rohwer at the beginning of the second half. Rohwer, Jones, Hein, Horan and MacDonald starred in the State backfield, while Dressel and Sam Hansen were bulwarks in the line.

W. S. C. 0—WASHINGTON 6

War-weary after nine hard battles and some 8000 miles of travel, the Cougars were unable to hit their usual stride and dropped a heart-breaking 6 to 0 game to the University of Washington at Seattle on Thanksgiving Day. The loss was the first shut-out of the season for the W. S. C. eleven.

Again as in the U. S. C. game the Cougars outfought and outcharged their opponents, but lost through fumbles. Dressel and Schwartz formed a veritable rock of Gibraltar upon which many Washington plays were smashed to particles. The State forward wall was impenetrable, but an overhead attack late in the game won for the Huskies.

The State defense covered Chuck Carroll, Washington's far famed fullback, like a tent and he had to content himself with a few short gains. On defense, however, he was the whole show for Washington. Co-starring with Carroll was Buzz Meader, the Husky end who caught the forward pass over the goal line for the winning touchdown.

Nine of the Cougars ended their collegiate football careers with the Turkey Day game. Captain Dressel, Speidel, Graham, Chester and Curry were the linemen who donned their suits for the last time, while Rohwer, L. Hein, Horan and Linden were the backfield veterans who took their final bow.

EAST-WEST GAME

WASHINGTON STATE'S football prowess received national recognition during the Christmas holidays when five men prominent in Cougar gridiron work took part in the annual Shriners' East-West benefit game at Kezar stadium, San Francisco, on December 29. Big Meg Dressel, 1928 State captain and All-Coast tackle, and Dan Horan, three-year halfback, were the men who carried the Cougar colors into the charity fracas.

Horan, a hard-running back when playing on the Cougar team, was repeatedly named by southern sport scribes as one of the best ball-carriers on the entire west coast squad. He started at a halfback post, but his old injury jinx hit him early in the game and he was forced to give way to a reserve man.

Dressel, always a consistent performer, was probably the outstanding lineman of the day with the exception of Ike Frankian, St. Mary's All-American end, who turned in a fine performance. Playing alongside of many of the men whom he had met in conference competition while playing for the Cougars, Dressel smeared many an eastern play headed around his end of the line.

Washington State has become an important unit in the Shriners' annual charity grid fracas. "Babe" Hollingbery has been head coach of the westerners since the event was inaugurated three years ago, while "Buck" Bailey has been his assistant. Herbert (Butch) Meeker, State's sensational quarterback in 1927, starred in the western victory that year. Teddy Rohwer, Cougar signal-barker last fall, received an invitation along with Dressel and Horan to perform for the Pacific Coast eleven, but declined in order to remain eligible for intercollegiate competition in basketball and baseball.

FROSH FOOTBALL, 1928

A MODERATELY successful season, somewhat dimmed by the brilliance of the 1927 frosh but nevertheless equal to the average in games won and lost, was chalked up by the 1928 Kitten football aggregation. Out of five games with leading Normal schools and frosh elevens, the State yearlings won two, lost two and tied the remaining tilt for a season's average of .500 per cent.

The opening game of the season found the Babes pitted against the powerful and experienced eleven from Ellensburg Normal school. Coach Karl Schlademan's frosh team, with only nine days of practice behind it, was unable to match the speed and power of the Normalites and was trampled under a 38 to 7 avalanche. The Ellensburg eleven, led by the sparkling work of "Tex" Robinson, former Cougar frosh halfback, was in the middle of its season's schedule and had an easy afternoon with the inexperienced yearling pigskin men.

The Kittens' initial win of the year was hung up over the Cheney Normal school club here, 12 to 0. The fracas was an easy one for the State gridders and gave Coach Schlademan a chance to try out all his men. The third clash of the year on Rogers field saw the W. S. C. first year men battle up and down the turf with the yearlings from the University of Idaho to a scoreless tie. Neither team had any decided advantage, although the State eleven nearly tallied in the final period of play.

An easily gained 25 to 0 win over Lewiston Normal marked the final appearance of the frosh on Rogers field. The Teachers came with a highly touted passing attack, but it was smothered by the Cougar secondary defense and the invaders were unable to make much headway. Only seven of their 30 attempted forward passes were completed.

The feature game of the season saw the University of Washington yearlings win a hard-fought 14 to 7 verdict over the Kittens at Yakima. A slow start that enabled the winners to score all their points in the first 10 minutes of play cost the State team the game. The Washington win partly avenged the 25 to 6 loss they suffered at the hands of the undefeated State frosh at Wenatchee in 1927. After the disastrous first quarter, the Cougars hit their stride and outplayed their opponents, threatening the Purple and Gold goal line six times and keeping the ball in enemy territory for the duration of the game.

Emmett (Mutt) Schroeder, stellar halfback, was easily the star of the 1928 yearling backfield. Phil Ritzau, Irwin Miller and Gene Cummings also loom as possible varsity material. In the line Frank Mitchell and Jack Parodi, guards, and Glen Edwards, giant tackle, were outstanding and will merit consideration when Coach Orin E. (Babe) Hollingbery sounds his call for varsity men next September.

JACK FRIEL

FROM the role of captain and leading player of the Washington State hoop team to the position of successful coach for his alma mater in the short span of five years is the record hung up by Jack Friel, Cougar basketball mentor during the 1928-29 season.

Pre-season "dope" gave the State five only an outside chance to finish above the bottom rung of the conference ladder. Friel, however, crossed up the dopesters by taking a cellar championship squad, adding a few new players to the list, and installing a new style of play to put a team in the conference race that copped a first division berth.

Friel graduated from Washington State in 1923 after winning three letters in basketball and three in baseball. In his final season of competition he captained the Cougar hoop team and was mentioned as All-Northwest forward.

Following his graduation came five years of highly successful prep school coaching which gave him the call over a long list of leading Northwest coaches when a new leader for W. S. C. basketball was selected. For two years he coached at Colville and then stepped up to North Central High of Spokane, where he had singular successes. His basketball quintet won the state interscholastic hoop championship in 1928, competing against 15 of the best teams in the state.

Third Year—Forward

PLAYING through a tough schedule of 23 games, the 1928-29 Cougar cagers turned in a record of nine wins and 14 defeats. The State College record in non conference games was unimpressive, but Coach Jack Friel's first college basketball team finished with an even break in conference clashes.

The Staters were handicapped at the start of the season, using a new system of play, but developed steadily through the winter and at times showed flashes of great offensive power. The season was a story of alternate spurts and letdowns, with the Cougars showing unexpected strength in conference battles and slumping in the other tilts.

Eight early season games, six of them ending in W. S. C. defeats, got the Frielmen off on the wrong foot. In the opener the Cougars swamped Lewiston Normal, but followed with two losses to Whitman, 39 to 35, and 39 to 29. Then Ellensburg Normal came to Pullman, and two more marks went down in the wrong column. Both of these disappointing mixes were snatched away by two-point margins. Two more trimmings followed, a thriller with Montana State and a slow fray with the Spokane Sparklers.

Then Washington State came to life with a bang. The Cougars downed the Sparklers, 26 to 17, in a return fracas at Spokane, and the following night opened their conference program with a brilliant win from Montana at Missoula, 44 to 23. W. S. C. came home and went on down to Walla Walla to take another pair of beatings from the Missionaries. Nevertheless a lot of fans had a hunch that a surprise might be coming. It arrived.

Oregon State rolled into Pullman impressively,—and rolled out like a lamb, toting a 30 to 18 black eye implanted by Friel's gang. A big crowd watched W. S. C. do some surprising things. The Cougars simply opened up and took the Orangemen by storm. The visitors had an "off" night, incidentally, something that didn't help them at all.

Two nights later came the most sensational cage duel that had been played in Pullman for many moons. Washington State played another great game to defeat the highly-touted University of Oregon machine, 31 to 28, in a fracas that had 3000 spectators hanging onto their seats from opening whistle to closing gun. W. S. C. started the scoring first and piled up an imposing lead before Gordon Ridings and his playmates could get going. At the half the Staters were leading by a scant margin. Throughout the second half Oregon repeatedly gained ground on the fleeting Cougars, only to fall behind again under a shower of W. S. C. field goals. Every Cougar who got into the game turned in a classy performance.

Holding to its winning pace the State College quintet knocked over Gonzaga, 33 to 29, a few evenings later on the new gym court. The Bulldogs arrived, bearing a healthy slate of wins over several strong teams, but were finally tamed after a hard scrap. Clipper Smith's crew got revenge in a return affair at Spokane, by a 32 to 28 count.

Just at a critical time, when the Cougars were sitting at the top of the conference standings, Old Man Slump hit the squad with a crash that reverberated for the rest of the season. The bottom dropped out of things in the first mix of the season with Idaho. The Vandals simply ran circles around the drooping Staters for a 56 to 21 victory. Idaho's deadeye forwards, McMillan and Stowell, aided by Burgher at center, led the attack with a barrage of phenomenal shots from all angles and distances. Coach Friel substituted frequently in an effort to quell the Foxmen, but Idaho wasn't to be stopped or even slowed down.

The Cougar wounds were reopened when Hec Edmundson led his Washington loopers into town and directed them to a 38 to 24 win from W. S. C. The mix attracted the largest crowd of the year, a crowd that marvelled at the bewildering speed of Percy Bolstad, Husky forward, and the unfailing eye of "Jiggs" Jaloff, his wee running mate. Washington State fought a game but losing battle. The team that later clinched the northern division conference crown was too smooth and consistent to be annoyed a great deal.

It was a relief when the Eugene Mohawks, an independent outfit, were swamped 59 to 31, the following week, and anticipations that the Cougars might turn the tables on Idaho began to grow. But the Vandals came over with a huge gang of rooters, a snappy pep band, and the determination to repaddle W. S. C. They won, 38 to 26, but only after a harder fight than they had expected.

The end of the season was about in sight as the Frielmen left on their annual trip around the western bend of the conference circuit. A trio of lickings on the coast seemed to be in sight for the Pullman outfit, but once again the Staters came through with a victorious spurt. First they conquered Oregon State again, 35 to 26. The Beavers were an improved club, but found the Friel system functioning quite efficiently. The following night Oregon and Washington State manufactured one of those great see-saw affairs that make basketball one of the most thrilling of all games. Again the Cougars came through, scraping out a 29 to 28 verdict. It was Eddie McDowell, veteran forward, who led the State attack in both of the late-season clashes in Oregon.

Washington was relentless at Seattle, winning 33 to 19 from the tired Pullmanites. W. S. C. plainly showed the effects of a long season of hard grinding, and the team was further hampered by the fact that Edmundson's boys missed surprisingly few shots. The 1928-29 cage program closed at home, with the State College dropping a sleepy argument to Montana, 37 to 27.

On the face of it, the season looked like a so-so affair. Then the statisticians got to work, and showed that the team, playing a new system under a new coach, had turned in the best Cougar conference record for six years. Furthermore, noted northwest officials were unanimous in expressing the opinion that Washington State showed indications of unusual strength—strength that should carry Friel's proteges to the top of the list in coming campaigns.

Throughout most of the season the starting lineup included Gene Endslow at center, Bob Van Tuyl and Jim Gilleland at forwards, and Archie Buckley and Ted Rohwer at guards. Van Tuyl, the only sophomore in the lineup, turned in a number of fine games. The other four all played bang-up ball and improved steadily in the use of the Friel attacking and checking style. Eddie McDowell, flashy forward, was in a regular job in all of the games during the last part of the season, and led the Cougars in scoring. Phil Pesco and Carl Ellingsen, a pair of likely sophomores, saw a lot of action during the winter, as did big Len Mitchell, pivot veteran. Jimmy Nugent was another sophomore who broke in frequently.

Three members of the squad, McDowell, Gilleland and Rohwer, played their final season of basketball. The trio starred together as freshmen, and in their sophomore years jumped directly into first string berths. All three became outstanding in the northern conference circuit—

THE 1929 freshman hoop team was a rangy, fast-breaking outfit that turned in 14 victories in 17 starts. The yearlings ran roughshod over all neighboring competition through the first part of the season, and it was not until the final month of play that North Central High of Spokane broke the Kitten winning streak. The greencappers won three out of four games with the University of Idaho babes.

Art McLarney, Ralph Carlton and Claude Holsten were the sensational performers in the first string lineup, but Merle Schneckloth was fast and consistent at center, while Luft and Jones, alternating in the other job, turned in a lot of good games. Numeral winners were: Art McLarney, Ralph Carlton, Claude Holsten, Wilbur Luft, Merle Schneckloth, Carl Jones, James Kilgore, Dick Shannon, and Clifford Burcham.

A. B. BAILEY

Coach A. B. Bailey

WITH no more than the average amount of good varsity material last spring, Coach A. B. (Buck) Bailey turned out a nifty diamond aggregation. His team won the eastern conference division championship and narrowly missed trimming Oregon for a second straight northern division pennant. "Buck" produced a winning ball team in 1927, and repeated the stunt in 1928. His record as State College baseball mentor has been far above par.

VARSITY BASEBALL, 1928

STARTING the 1928 season with a capable host of veterans from his northwest championship team of the previous year, Coach A. B. (Buck) Bailey moulded an outfit that came within an ace of giving Washington State her second consecutive title. The Cougars started the season with a rush and marched steadily through a tough Eastern Division schedule with only one or two losses. The team won the right to meet the University of Oregon for the pennant, but lost two out of three games to the Webfooters at Eugene.

New men and veterans both took their share of laurels before the season was over. Earl Mitchell, sophomore outfielder, showed himself to be one of the classiest stickers in the region. He held down a regular job in centerfield, and was flanked by a pair of old hands, Bob McCord and "Mohawk" Exley. The regular infield combination included Archie Buckley, a sophomore, at third base, with Harvey Cole at short, Guy Di Julio at second and Teddy Rohwer on the initial bag. This airtight quartet caused trouble for the best hitters in the circuit. In the pitcher's box were Eddie McDowell and Kenny Adams, veterans, and three new twirlers, Kerm Warden, Ted Cragin and Al McCarron. Warden was one of the club's leading boxmen and turned in some fine games. Behind the bat were Don Buzzard, letterman, who returned to school after a year of absence, and Bill Mullen, a likely sophomore. Letters were earned by 15 players, including: Buzzard and Mullen, catchers; McDowell, Adams, McCarron, Cragin and Warden, pitchers; Rohwer, first base; Di Julio, second base; Cole, shortstop; Buckley, third base; McCord, Exley, Mitchell and Howard Damon, outfielders.

TRIM GONZAGA IN SEASON OPENER

The Cougars had little trouble shutting out Gonzaga, 5 to 0, in the first game of the season, playing on Rogers field. Washington State pushed runs over in each of the first two innings, and scored three counters in the eighth. Cragin and Warden, "Buck" Bailey's mound choices, limited the eager Bulldogs to four scattered hits. Gerald Exley furnished the fielding feature of the battle late in the game, racing up onto the right field bank to make a beautiful catch, and then throwing to second base for a double play.

LOSE TO BULLDOGS

Bunching hits at opportune moments, the Gonzagans won the second game of the annual series, 4 to 2. W. S. C. outhit the winners but could not manufacture runs enough to offset an early lead taken by the visitors. Gonzaga scored in the first and twice more in the third, for a substantial margin that lasted all the game. Ted Rohwer was the slugging star of the afternoon, gathering a single, double and triple in four jaunts to the plate.

COUGARS SWAMP LEWISTON

Showing plenty of snappy mound work and defensive strength, the Cougars staged a field day against Lewiston, taking a pleasant 12 to 3 decision. The Staters scored leisurely and at will, pounding two Lewiston twirlers into submission. The seventh inning was the big frame of the afternoon, W. S. C. scoring four runs on five solid smashes and a Normalite error or two. McDowell, Adams and Warden were equally effective on the hill, McDowell flashing some of the wares that made him hard to beat in 1927.

BOW TO BEARDED BEAUTIES

A big crowd filled Rogers field bleachers to see W. S. C. outslug the Bearded Beauties, sensational bewhiskered club, only to lose on some disappointing juggles in the field. The visitors won, 5 to 3, playing excellent ball behind good pitching.

The Bearded Beauties failed to exhibit hairy faces that could live up to advance notices, but the whole team showed that it knew the diamond pastime. Washington State showed plenty of attacking power, with Buckley and Rohwer toting away the stick honors. Each swatted once for the circuit.

FIND IDAHO TOUGH

The first conference game of the season was disastrous for W. S. C., Idaho invading Rogers field for a 12 to 5 win. A lot of bungles and some spotty pitching by the Bailey boys converted the fracas into an orgy. The game was close for a while, but the Vandals counted two runs in the sixth, added three in the next canto and finished the ninth inning with a six-run melange that had the Cougars dizzy. It was simply an off day for W. S. C., both with the warclubs and in the gardens. Buzzard led the hitting with three blows in as many chances.

Whitman won a hard-fought 1 to 0 verdict over the Cougars May 4 at Walla Walla. For eight and one-half innings the game was scoreless, but in the final moments a Missionary pinch hitter came through with a hit that brought in the lone marker. The fracas was a mound duel between Eddie McDowell and Webster, the latter allowing only four bingles. Even then Washington State might have won the mix, but five bad errors settled that possibility.

SWEET REVENGE FOR COUGARS

Smarting after their loss to the Whitman boys, the Cougars came back to win, 9 to 5, the next day. Neither team worked well on the field, frequent joggles spoiling an otherwise good game. State College bats were at work overtime, however, and the Missionaries couldn't produce the necessary hits for needed runs. Exley pounded out a home run to start W. S. C. scoring in the second inning, and Buckley repeated the circuit trick in the third. Kenney Adams threw his left-handed slants for seven stanzas, Warden finishing the flinging assignment.

GRIZZLIES ARE SOFT

Limiting Montana to three singles, McDowell led W. S. C. to a 10 to 1 victory over Montana on Rogers field. The invaders were simply helpless before McDowell's steady chucking, and failed to show even a threat at any time.

Meanwhile Cougar sticks were busy collecting 13 smashes, each one of which contributed toward the scoring. The tilt looked like a field day in the eighth, when seven W. S. C. hits and some Grizzly errors brought in eight runs. "Buck" Bailey's whole team displayed championship stuff, with infield and outfield functioning in great style. Earl Mitchell was leading sticker, connecting for four hits in five trips.

SMITE GRIZZLIES AGAIN

Kerm Warden repeated McDowell's stingy performance of the previous afternoon for a 4 to 3 verdict over the Montanans. The game was a tough one, however, for the Grizzlies were fiery and threatened to score all the time. A feature of the afternoon was Rohwer's tremendous home-run smash in the fourth inning. Warden had three safe bingles in three attempts, thus adding hitting glory to his pitching performance. He allowed only six hits and fanned 13 batters.

TURN BACK WHITMAN AGAIN

Five runs in the first two innings formed a lead that Whitman never could chop down, and the Cougars chalked up a 10 to 7 decision. Hard hitting accounted for the win. The Missionaries found McCarron for five runs in the third and fourth innings, but that was their only serious rally of the game. Exley poled a grounder through the Whitman outfield for a homer in the sixth, scoring two runners ahead of him.

SLUGGERS DO STUFF ONCE MORE

The Cougars and Whitman treated a merry crowd to an old-fashioned slugfest. W. S. C. finally eking out an 8 to 5 win that was closer than the score indicates. The Staters murdered Missionary box offerings for 14 sizzling hits, but the visitors' bats were in action steadily at the same time. Mitchell and Mullen led the batting attack with three safeties out of four journeys plateward.

Harvey Cole at shortstop gave his most brilliant exhibition of the season. He made some stops that looked impossible, and his beautiful throwing cut off several Whitman runs. Cole was not the only star of the game, for Buckley, Di Julio and Rohwer kept the rest of the infield airtight.

IDAHO TAKES CLOSE ONE

Invincible pitching by "Whitey" Lawrence, Vandal ace, spelled a 2 to 0 defeat for W. S. C. Idaho collected only five safe hits, but those few were enough to fashion a victory for the Moscow lads on their home diamond. Only three Cougars reached first base and their presence on that sack helped little, for Idaho played errorless ball. W. S. C. made two slipups that were unimportant. McDowell and Lawrence each struck out five men, and neither allowed a base on balls.

TURN TABLES ON IDAHO

Fanning 15 men and allowing only three hits, Kerm Warden was a big factor in Washington State's 2 to 1 win from the Vandals on Rogers field. The game was the best of the season for the spectators, every canto teeming with plenty of excitement.

The Cougars were a run behind until the eighth inning, when two safe hits brought in a counter. A walk, a sacrifice hit and Rohwer's lofty blow to short right field scored the winning tally in the ninth. It will take the big crowd that watched the fracas a long time to forget Warden's brilliant twirling. In the eighth inning Warden threw nine consecutive strikes to three baffled Vandals.

COUGARS FLAY MONTANA

It was a sorry crowd of Grizzlies that tried to stop the Staters May 21 on the Missoula diamond. The Cougars went wild with the bludgeon to run up a 16 to 6 score. Every man on the team had an "on" day with the stick, and a flock of safe blows coupled with seven glaring errors by Montana put the game on ice.

During the course of their baseball field day, the W. S. C. wreckers tallied thrice in the sixth, as many more in the seventh and seven in the next canto. McDowell and Cragin tossed them to the Grizzlies and had little trouble.

TAKE GRIZZLIES BY STORM

The Cougars won laurels in their final game of the season with Montana by a 14 to 4 margin. The game was a repetition of the previous day's skirmish, with the Baileymen gunning at every offering the Grizzly twirlers could manufacture. Damon, Cole and McCord led the swatting spree, but everybody took one or two turns making life miserable for the Montana fielders. The losers collected only six hits and failed to show offensive strength in the pinches.

HAND BULLDOGS LICKING

Washington State stopped over on the way home from Montana long enough to defeat Gonzaga, 8 to 7, at Spokane. W. S. C. scored four runs in the first session and for the rest of the afternoon took advantage of frequent Bulldog bobbles. Clipper Smith's gang came to life often enough to keep the duel interesting, but the Staters were safe most of the time.

CLINCH SECTION TITLE

Idaho and W. S. C. played a hectic struggle at Moscow to decide the eastern section title, and the Baileymen came through after a frenzied battle for an 11 to 10 nod. The game seemed to be "in the bag" with Washington State leading 11 to 1 in the sixth canto, but Idaho suddenly located Warden's fast ones to start a big rally. Higher and higher crept the Vandal total, but the Cougars tightened to end things successfully. By winning W. S. C. earned the right to play Oregon for the championship of the northern conference division.

OREGON TAKES FIRST ONE

Cougar errors and heavy slugging by a band of determined Webfooters gave Oregon the first game of the play-off series at Eugene, 7 to 3. The win was a big start toward the northern title, and put Bailey's crew in a bad hole for the rest of the series. Warden and Cragin were on the firing line for the Staters, and were touched for 11 blows.

COUGARS TAKE SECOND

A last-inning rally that netted four runs saved the second game of the play-off for W. S. C., the Cougars winning, 12 to 9. Bailey's boys started the afternoon with a show of strength, scoring thrice in the first inning and adding two more juicy counters in the second. But the lead was soon wiped out. Oregon tallied once in the third and once more in the fourth, then went wild to count four in the following canto. Things then drifted along evenly till the ninth, when W. S. C. bats produced five hits. Rohwer, Exley, Di Julio and Buzzard played important parts in the comeback.

TITLE GOES GLIMMERING

It was a fitting 10-inning struggle that ended the titular series. Oregon won the game, 6 to 5, but only after an airtight duel that seesawed back and forth from start to finish. The winners exhibited no noticeable margin of superiority, for Washington State played a brand of baseball that would have won most games. The Cougars outhit Oregon but could not make the extra bingles continue into runs. Both teams played rare ball in the field, an error apiece not detracting from the performances. McCarron worked on the mound for W. S. C. and allowed only 10 hits, while his teammates were collecting 13. McCarron also contributed to the swat total.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

FROSH baseballers, under the coaching of Bill Weingarten, former varsity twirler, went through a successful schedule in 1928, winning four out of five games. The Kittens took three straight games from the Idaho yearlings, and took their lone beating from Cheney Normal. The season opened with a win over North Central high school of Spokane, 10 to 6. In the second fracas the frosh had little trouble quelling Idaho's greencap boys, 10 to 3. Cheney took a hard-fought slugfest from the yearlings, eking out a 13 to 12 decision after nine exciting innings. The year closed with a pair of fat wins from Idaho, 8 to 0 and 8 to 1. The yearlings had a well-balanced outfit with some fast gardeners and powerful hitters. Oscar Jones was one of the crew's leading sluggers, hitting for the circuit several times. Incidentally Jones held down third base in great style and fitted in nicely with Jack Cooney, diminutive second baseman and Mel Lee, clever shortstop.

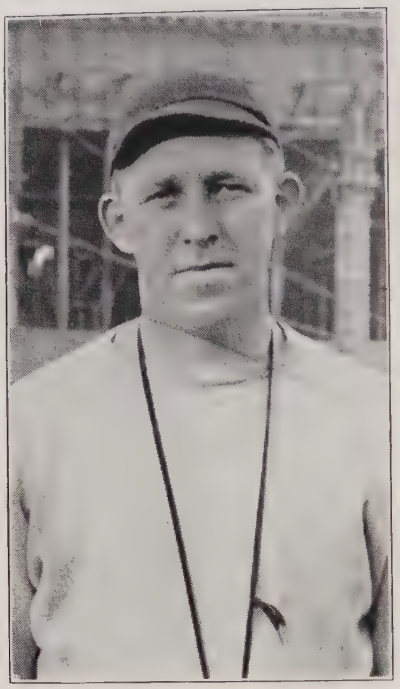
TRACK



KARL SCHLADEMAN

Track Coach

SINCE Karl Schlademan took the track and field coaching reins at Washington State three years ago, interest in the ancient spiked-shoe sport has climbed steadily on the Cougar campus. In his first season here Coach Schlademan produced a well-balanced team that held its own in the fastest of northwest circles. Last spring he turned out a team that was not only strong in all events, but boasted of three or four stars worthy of national recognition. And at the start of the 1929 program, prospects were rosy for a team that could compare with any aggregation in the conference circuit.

There are reasons for Karl Schlademan's success. First of all, he was a college athlete himself, starring in football and track at DePauw University in 1910 and 1911. Secondly, he has mastered the intricacies of track coaching through years of experience in the work, careful study of methods used by many outstanding mentors, and the introduction of theories developed by himself. Finally, Coach Schlademan is "one of the boys." He knows athletics, and is always willing to join a circle of "hot stove" fans and tell his share of grid-iron, diamond and cinder-path anecdotes. Karl Schlademan is a combination of the coaching skill, smiling personality and constant good nature that go to make up a successful mentor.

TRACK, SEASON 1928

LED by Wesley Foster, fleet sprinter, the 1928 varsity track team went through an unusually successful season. While Foster, in his first year of competition, was establishing himself as the king of northwest speedsters, the rest of Coach Karl Schlademan's crew was turning in many fine performances.

Washington State athletes took part in seven meets during the season. Now and then some of them were forced to bow to veteran spiked shoe luminaries, but considering everything, the Cougars clung to a high rung in conference cinder circles. The spring of 1928 marked the debut of a great quartet of sophomores in Ben Herron, jump star; Jay Boerhave, weight tosser; Rex Taylor, distance runner, and the brilliant Foster. At the same time there were a number of veterans adding to laurels won in previous years.

WESLEY FOSTER
First Year—Sprints

The schedule opened with the annual triangular meet with Gonzaga and Idaho at Spokane, W. S. C. winning easily. A huge crowd braved the frigid weather to watch Wes Foster tie the Gonzaga track records in both sprint events. Herron was high point man with 11½ points. The following week Washington State went to Seattle for the Washington relay carnival, and it was on that afternoon that Foster truly proved his mettle. He won the century dash and ran brilliantly in several relays.

Taking 11 out of 15 first places, W. S. C. ran away with the dual meet with Idaho at Moscow. Records were exceptionally good, but "Rosy" Hein furnished the thrill of the day when he sent the discus spinning 155 feet, close to the world's record mark. Several unofficial watches said that Foster tied the world's record in the 100-yard dash, while True Ouillette smashed the college quarter mile mark. In the University of Oregon meet Foster startled the entire country by cracking the world's record for 175 yards. He covered the distance in 16.6 seconds to best Charlie Paddock's old mark of 17.4. No wind was blowing during the race. Other features were the great half-mile turned in by Captain Ray Williams, and Rex Taylor's mile victory.

Washington State made a determined bid before losing to Washington in the annual dual meet with the Huskies. W. S. C. took six first places. Ben Herron's 12 points were good for high scoring honors, beating by one counter the total garnered by Herm Brix, Husky shot-put champ. The team's season ended June 2 at Missoula in the coast conference meet, W. S. C. taking third place. Rex Taylor ran a beautiful race against Kiser, Washington miler, but while the two were dueling, Hansen, O. S. C., flashed by to win the race by a hairline margin. Foster had no trouble in the sprints.

FRESHMAN TRACK

IT WAS a powerful horde of State college freshman track performers that won two out of three meets during the 1928 season. Coach Karl Schlademan had a worthy collection of stars before the year was over. Outstanding luminaries were Jack Mooberry, sprinter; Ken Kelly, sprints and quarter mile; Art Hughes in the distances and Porter Lainhart, who developed into a consistent worker in several events. Others pressed this quartet closely for high honors and nearly all were above average for freshman track.

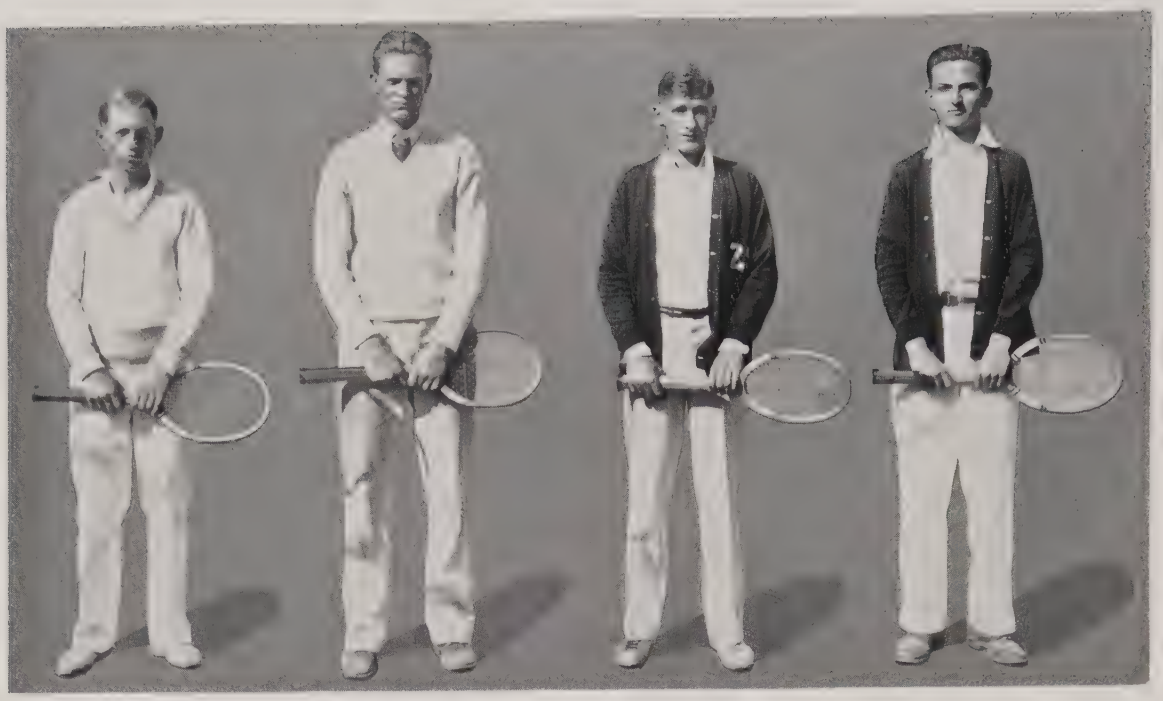
The season started with a 70 to 61 loss to Whitman college. The frosh took nine first places to six for the Missionaries, but could not annex enough seconds and thirds. Angus Clark turned in the feature of the day with a fine performance in the half mile. Lainhart was high scorer with 13 points. He won the high jump and pole vault and grabbed a second in the broad jump.

The second meet was an easy victory over Idaho's first-year tracksters, 95 to 36. Washington State took 12 first places and had no trouble in any event. Mooberry won the 100-yard dash in 10.1 and the 220-yard dash in 22 seconds flat. Ken Kelly was close behind in both these races. Ancheta, a Phillipino, won both hurdle jaunts. Al Turner set a new freshman record in the 440-yard run at 51.2 seconds. The Kittens closed their schedule by trouncing Cheney, 88 2/3 to 42 1/3. Lainhart was again the outstanding boy of the afternoon, this time with 16 points. He won all three jumps and copped third in the shot put. Mooberry was a safe bet in both sprint events, while Clark won the half mile and Turner the quarter without trouble.

NUMERAL WINNERS

Antonio Ancheta	Howard Morgan
Norman Barmeier	Milton Rutledge
Angus Clark	Wayne Somerville
Arthur Frey	Allen Sprout
Sam Hansen	Al Turner
Melvin Hein	Randall Henry
George Hill	Everett Houghland
Arthur Hughes	Kenneth Kelly
Porter Lainhart	Jack Mooberry

MINOR SPORTS



BOTTING BROWN VOGLER CHAPMAN

VARSITY TENNIS

HANDICAPPED by a lack of practice facilities while the college courts were being hard-surfaced, Cougar varsity tennis men found the going rather tough during the 1928 season. They played five tournaments and won two, losing twice to Idaho and once to Whitman. Five men bore the brunt of the schedule to win their letters in the racket sport. They were Captain Allan Brown, Dave Botting, Alan Chapman, Bob Small and John Vogler. Competition opened with a 5 to 2 win over the University of Idaho at Moscow May 5. In the second meet W. S. C. took four straight matches from Willamette University racketeers. Then came a slump when the Cougars lost five out of seven matches to Whitman at Walla Walla and followed the meet by losing six out of seven tilts to Idaho. In the final clash of the season Washington State fell to the Vandals, four matches to three. The summaries:

W. S. C.—IDAHO

Brown (W. S. C.) defeated H. Carney (Idaho) 6—4, 6—3.

Chapman (W. S. C.) defeated Calloway (Idaho) 6—0, 6—4.

Botting (W. S. C.) defeated Ailshie (Idaho) 6—2, 7—5.

Vogler (W. S. C.) defeated Koontz (Idaho) 2—6, 6—4, 6—0.

C. Carney (Idaho) defeated Small (W. S. C.) 6—4, 9—7.

Carney and Carney (Idaho) defeated Brown and Botting (W. S. C.) 6—2, 1—6, 6—2.

Vogler and Chapman (W. S. C.) defeated Calloway and Koontz (Idaho) 6—3, 6—3.

W. S. C.—WILLAMETTE

Brown (W. S. C.) defeated White (W) 6—1, 6—2.

Chapman (W. S. C.) defeated Minto (W) 6—1, 6—2.

Botting (W. S. C.) defeated Litchfield (W) 10—8, 6—3.

Botting and Chapman (W. S. C.) defeated White and Minto (W) 6—0, 10—12, 6—1.

W. S. C.—WHITMAN

Oswald (Whitman) defeated Brown (W. S. C.) 6—4, 6—1.

Chapman (W. S. C.) defeated Emery (Whitman) 6—3, 6—3.

Botting (W. S. C.) defeated Davis (Whitman) 9—7, 6—4.

Penrose (Whitman) defeated Vogler (W. S. C.) 6—1, 6—2.

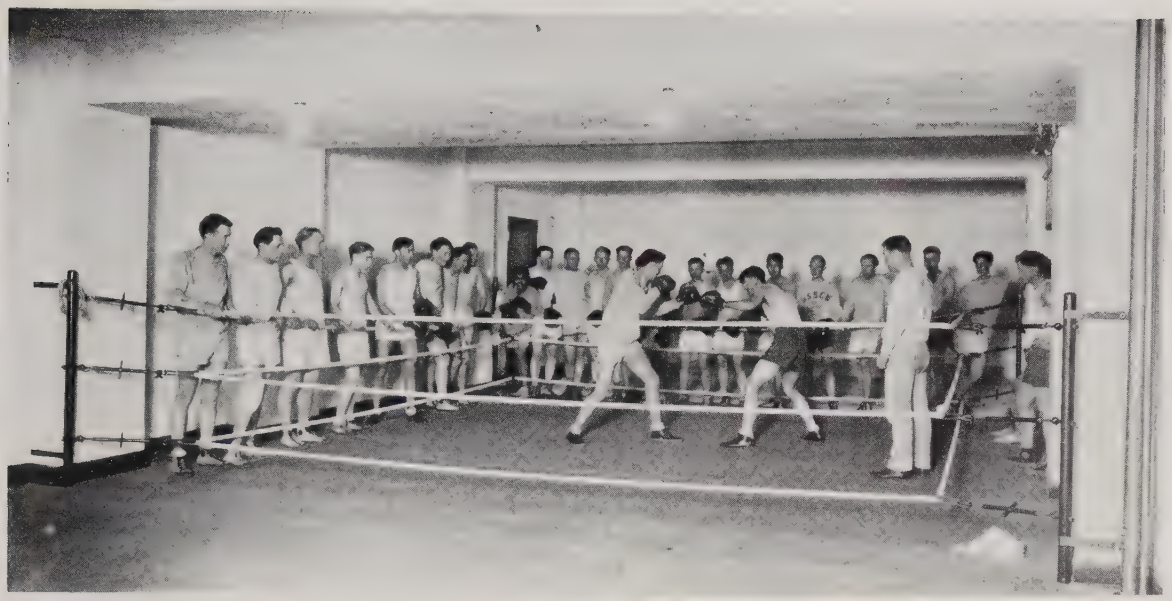
Merrill and Carney (Idaho) defeated Brown and Chapman (W. S. C.) 8—6, 7—5.



BOXING

GREATLY increased interest in the sport and added enrollment in classes with the added facilities in the new gymnasium featured the 1928-29 boxing program at Washington State. Three campus smokers were staged by Coach Ike Deeter, while State mitt-slingers engaged in outside competition three times. One northwest boxing crown was added to the Cougar list as a result of the spring competition.

On February 22 and 23 eight State leather pushers fought in the Pacific coast amateur boxing championships at Portland. Bob Eldred, 147 pounder, reached the finals, but lost to Perdick of Washington on a knockout in the first round. Mike Burke, veteran 135-pound scrapper, also went far in the tournament, but failed to cop a championship. The Olympic club of San Francisco walked off with the lion's share of the championships. Cougar entrants included Bernardo Ceusta, 112; Dale Boucher, 118; Jack Reeves, 126; Mike Burke, 135; Bob Eldred, 147; Corwin Pilon, 147; Ike Deeter, 160; and Les Wingard, 175.

Six boxers represented W. S. C. in the first annual minor sports carnival staged at the University of Washington. They won one championship and copped second place among northwest colleges for State. Dave Brannon, 125 pounds, was the sole Cougar entrant to win his way to the top. Other scrappers entered were Burke, 135; Pat Connelly, 145; Fred Simpson, 158; Jimmie Gilleland, 175; and Bill Goodwin, heavyweight.

Three top-notch smokers were staged during the year for local boxing fans. Keen competition developed in the ranks of the campus mitt-slingers and large crowds attended the fights. Campus champions included Les Wingard, 175 pounds; Grover Brown, 158; Pat Connelly, 145; Mike Burke, 135; Jack Reeves, 126; and Bernardo Ceusta, 112 pounds.

WRESTLING

Three northwest intercollegiate wrestling championships went to Washington State College during the 1929 season, giving the Cougars a high place among the colleges of the coast as far as the mat game is concerned. Only one major engagement was held, but the State grapplers gave a fine account of themselves in that encounter and more than kept up the fine record established in 1928 competition.

Only a margin of three points kept the Staters from walking off with the northwest team championship at the Washington minor sports carnival held at Seattle April 20. A team of six men was entered by Coach Harold Berridge, veteran Cougar wrestler, to compete with other northwest schools in the first minor sports program ever held in this section of the country. Washington won the meet with 28 points, closely followed by the Cougars with 25, while the University of Oregon trailed far in the rear with five points.

Kenny Driskill, veteran 158-pounder and one of the best wrestlers ever turned out at Washington State, copped the middleweight title with ease at the Seattle meet. Two other championships also went to State grapplers, Wallace Pease winning at 115 pounds and Harold Davis walking off with honors in the 135-pound class.

Second place honors in the sports carnival went to Kal Hall, State 125-pounder; Ralph Doheny, 145 pounds; and Paul Davies, 175. Pease, Davis, Doheny and Davies will all be back to form the nucleus for the 1930 grappling squad.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK

FOUR records went clattering by the boards in the 1928 state interscholastic track and field meet on Rogers field May 18 and 19. Marks were pushed to new heights in the shot put, discus, pole vault and 880-yard relay, while many other records were seriously threatened before the thrilling afternoon of the finals was over.

Scores of flashy young high school aces from every nook and corner of the state gathered here for the annual "Miniature Olympiad." They found the college oval in fine condition for a battle royal, and exhibited their wares between flag-decked stands crammed with a colorful crowd of several thousand rooters. Bob Barnard, Pullman high school sprinter, was high scorer of the meet with 12 points, while the plaque for the town garnering the most counters went to Everett with 14½ points. The finest individual performance was made by Rhodes of Snohomish, who tossed the 12-pound shot more than 49 feet to best a mark of long standing. The summary of the meet tells the story of a day filled with great performances:

100-yard dash—Barnard, Pullman, won; Schilaty, Everett, second; Bowes, Aberdeen, third; McKenna, Gonzaga, fourth. Time, 10.1.

220-yard dash—Barnard, Pullman, won; Bowes, Aberdeen, second; Schilaty, Everett, third; McKenna, Gonzaga, fourth. Time, 22.5.

440-yard dash—First heat: Knighton, Highline, won; Lingo, Arlington, second; Barker, Walla Walla, third; Montgomery, Centralia, fourth. Time, 52 seconds flat.

440-yard dash—Second heat: Bosket, Everett, won; Copeland, Buckley, second; Pritchard, Wapato, third; Cleveland, Vancouver, fourth. Time, 52.2.

880-yard run—Dodd, Highline, won; Long, Pomeroy, second; Dieter, North Central, third; Nolf, Wapato, fourth. Time, 2:02.1.

Mile run—St. Luis, Chelan, won; Long, Pomeroy, second; McKenzie, Thorpe, third; Zeoishig, South Bend, fourth. Time, 4:35.8.

120-yard high hurdles—Shrock, Spokane, won; Preston, Arlington, second; Fickle, Everett, third; Ball, Spokane, fourth. Time, 16.5.

220-yard low hurdles—Whitaker, Spokane, won; Carleton, Blaine, second; Wright, Walla Walla, third; Wakeley, Hillyard, fourth. Time, 26.2.

Shot put—Rhodes, Snohomish, won; Hantleman, Mt. Vernon, second; Mladinich, Puyallup, third; Wallulis, Roslyn, fourth. Distance, 49 feet 2½ inches. (New record.)

Discus—Hein, Burlington, won; Hanson, Blaine, second; Steckel, Walla Walla, third; Wilskie, Odessa, fourth. Distance, 128 feet 4½ inches. (New record.)

Javelin—Schroder, Mt. Vernon, won; McCluskey, Spokane, second; Hein, Burlington, third; Kelley, Lind, fourth. Distance, 173 feet ¾ inches.

High jump—Atchinson, Spokane, won; Gordon, Mt. Vernon, second; Hill, Anacortes, third; Post, Aberdeen, fourth. Height, 6 feet.

Broad jump—Swift, Spokane, won; Rosenquist, Vancouver, second; Barnard, Pullman, third; Carlson, Monroe, fourth. Distance, 21 feet 10½ inches.

Pole vault—Chase, Chelan, won; Boone of Dayton and Leeman of Sedro-Woolley, tied for second and third; Flowers of Burlington, Dupius of Vancouver, Shinkosky of Colfax and Wakeley of Spokane, all tied for fourth. Height, 11 feet 11¾ inches. (New record.)

880-yard relay—Won by Northwest district. Time, 1:32.1. (New record.)

SOUTHEAST DISTRICT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

THE largest crowds in the history of the event attended the annual Southeast district high school basketball tournament held in the new gymnasium on February 28 and March 1 and 2. The affair was directed by members of Crimson Circle, who mixed a generous number of freshman and intramural exhibition games into the regular program.

Walla Walla high school basketeers came through with flying colors to win the district championship and the right to enter the state tournament, while Clarkston took the runner-up position.

Scores of the nine tourney games, in the order in which they were played, follow:

Ritzville	32	Albion	18
Asotin	36	St. John	34
Clarkston	19	Pullman	16
Walla Walla	31	Hay	16
Ritzville	24	Pullman	19
Asotin	22	Hay	20
Walla Walla	32	Clarkston	10

INTRAMURAL BASEBALL

TWENTY-THREE teams were entered in the 1928 intramural baseball league. Out of this strong field Sigma Chi emerged to defeat Sigma Phi Epsilon 11 to 5 in the championship finals.

Sigma Chi had a powerful battery, with Art Harris on the mound and Vere Magaurn wearing the big mitt. The Sig Eps staged a great fight for the title, but could not stem the tide of basehits from Sigma Chi bats.

The baseball league was divided into four circuits for preliminary play-offs. The divisions included: "A" league—Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Kappa, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Independents; "B" league—Sigma Phi Epsilon, Faculty, Theta Chi, Phi Epsilon, Gauge and Gavel and Psi Nu Sigma; "C" league—Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Sigma, Ferry Hall, Alpha Tau Omega; "D" league—Stimson Hall, Phi Kappa Tau, Alpha Sigma Beta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Theta Xi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

This spring the intramural baseball entry list was even larger, with almost every campus group represented. The sport has grown in interest every year since it was started here.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

A GREATLY improved brand of basketball and an accordingly larger number of star players featured the 1929 intramural hoop season. The sports editor of the "Evergreen"—Henry MacLeod—stated that "the picking of the all-campus team presented greater difficulties than usual in that there were at least four outstanding men in line for every position."

More of the group houses took greater interest than ever before, and "Hal" Orion was well pleased with the showing of the various teams entered.

This year the teams were grouped into two sections, (A) and (B).

The teams in the (A) Section were:

Psi Nu Sigma
Phi Epsilon
Kappa Sigma
Theta Xi
Sigma Phi Sigma
Independents
Sigma Chi
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Phi Kappa Tau
Beta Theta Pi
Sigma Phi Epsilon
Alpha Tau Omega
Stimson Hall "A"

(B) Section

Faculty
Kappa Psi
Alpha Kappa Lambda
Sigma Nu
Alpha Gamma Rho
Theta Chi
Phi Delta Theta
Tau Kappa Epsilon
Phi Sigma Kappa
Ferry Hall
Lambda Chi Alpha
Stimson Hall "B"

Beta Theta Pi won the championship in the (A) section and the Tau Kappa Epsilon of the (B) section. These teams played for the championship and the Beta "hoopsters" took a 35 to 24 victory.

The championship Beta Theta Pi team placed two men among the first ten, one on the first team and one on the second all-star selection. Sigma Chi and Lambda Chi also placed two men each, while the remaining four were selected from Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The selections were:

FIRST TEAM

Koegler, Tau Kappa Epsilon	Forward
Chittenden, Beta Theta Pi	Forward
M. Hein, Sigma Nu	Center
Shaw, Sigma Chi	Guard
McDonald, Lambda Chi	Guard

SECOND TEAM

Roen, Beta Theta Pi	Forward
Warden, Alpha Tau Omega	Forward
Goodwin, Sigma Chi	Center
Cresswell, Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Guard
Sherar, Lambda Chi	Guard

INTRAMURAL WRESTLING

ALPHA KAPPA LAMBDA'S five-man wrestling team defeated 18 other campus aggregations to win the intramural wrestling championship in the annual tourney staged this spring. Approximately 100 grapplers were engaged in the mat competition, which was run off on a straight elimination basis instead of the customary round-robin style.

Runner-up honors for the intramural tournament went to the Stimson hall ear-twisters, who lost to the Alpha Kappa Lambdas in the final match for the title. Victories in three out of the five matches gave the winners a 28-to-19 margin. Featuring in the Alpa Kappa Lambda triumph were the stellar performances of Wallace Pease, 128 pounds, and Harold Davis, 135 pounds. Following are the results of the final matches between the A. K. L.'s and the Stimson team:

128 pound class—Pease, A. K. L., won two falls over Guisleman, Stimson.

135 pound class—Davis, A. K. L., won one fall and one decision over Erickson, Stimson.

145 pound class—Hopkins, Stimson, won one fall and one decision and lost one fall to Tewinkel, A. K. L.

158 pound class—Lamb, A. K. L., won two falls and lost one decision to Norgaard, Stimson.

Heavyweight class—Davies, Stimson, won one fall and one decision over Anderson, A. K. L.

The competition extended over a three weeks' period and saw keen rivalry develop in the scrap for the campus championship. The tournament was staged by Hal Orion, intramural director, with Harold Berridge, State wrestling coach, taking charge of the competition.

INTRAMURAL TRACK

SCORES of competitors were attracted to take part in the annual intramural track meet on Rogers field June 1 and 2. The entry list was so large that preliminaries were necessary in several events. One record after another fell by the wayside in the finals, until the old marks had been tied or broken in all but two events, the discus and broad jump. Several of the times and distances were unusually good. Dan Horan clipped off a speedy century dash while Davis hung up a good mark in the mile. The summary:

100-yard dash—Horan (KS) won, Hughes (PSK) second, Read (ATO) third, Harris (SC) fourth. Time, 10.3.

220-yard dash—Hughes (PSK) won, Read (ATO) second, Maskell (SPE) third, Wingard (TC) fourth. Time 23.4.

440-yard run—Read (ATO) won, Hughes (PSK) second, Huntington (SPE) third, O'Connor (Ferry) fourth. Time, 55 flat.

880-yard run—Driskill (SPE) won, Davis (AKL) second, Pease (AKL) third, Jayne (Stimson) fourth. Time, 2:8.5.

Mile—Davis (AKL) won, White (Ferry) second, Hewes (BTP) third, Hansen (SN) fourth. Time, 4:54.6.

Two-mile—Whiteley (Independent) won, Solbakken (Independent) second, Davis (AKL) third, Hansen (SN) fourth. Time, 11:01.1.

120-yard high hurdles—Hurley (LCA) won, Birkett (SC) second, Carruthers (PDT) third, Mason (ATO) fourth. Time, 17.4.

220-yard low hurdles—Pease (AKL) won, Allen (ASB) second, Maskell (SPE) third, Poppe (AGR) fourth. Time, 2 seconds flat.

Shot put—Horan (KS) won, Koegler (TKE) second, Hansen (SN) third, Dressel (SN) fourth. Distance, 46 feet 2/10 inches.

Discus—Taylor (BTP) won, Horan (KS) second, Zane (PDT) third, Chester (LCA) fourth. Distance, 111 feet 2 inches.

Javelin—Mason (ATO) won, Koegler (TKE) second, Dressel (SN) third, Driskill (SPE) fourth. Distance, 163 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—Woodham (TC) won, Mason (ATO) second, Coffin (BTP) third, Lundquist (Stimson) fourth. Height, 10 feet 6 inches.

High jump—Lee (TC) won, Ganson (LCA) and English (SAE) tied for second, Deering (SAE) fourth. Height, 5 feet 5 inches.

Broad jump—Broom (PDT) won, Bond (ATO) second, English (SAE) third, McClure (BTP) fourth. Distance, 19 feet 10½ inches.

Relay—Sigma Phi Epsilon won, Kappa Sigma second, Alpha Tau Omega third, Phi Delta Theta fourth. Time, 49 flat.

INTRAMURAL CROSS COUNTRY

A three-mile cross country run last fall, planned more as an experiment than anything else, proved to be one of the outstanding intramural events of the school year. Officials were surprised when a field of 163 aspiring harriers overwhelmed them at the starting line. They were even more surprised when 116 of the starters finished the long grind.

Philip Ritzau, Phi Epsilon, led the pack most of the way to take first honors. His healthy stride and a store of reserve stamina carried him over the three-mile course in good time. Behind him were the following, named in the order in which they finished: White, Ferry Hall; Percy Clark, Alpha Gamma Rho; David Griswold, unattached; Harvey McDowell, Alpha Tau Omega; John Inions, Alpha Sigma Beta; Moyes, Independent; Lee, Ferry Hall; Sam Eck, Theta Xi; and Anderson, Alpha Sigma Beta.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS

THE fall intramural tennis tournament uncovered a big group of likely racketeers and produced a number of good matches. Twenty-two groups entered teams, with Theta Chi, represented by Howard Bowen and Claude Rethlefson, galloping away with the bunting.

Bowen and Rethlefson were invincible through every round. They travelled easily through the early matches, and defeated Horace Chapman and Harry White, of Stimson Hall, in the final set of matches. The teams of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon went to the semi-final round before they got into trouble. The new battery of cement courts made intramural tennis possible until late in the fall, and added impetus to the growing interest in tennis on the campus. Alan Chapman, net letterman, managed the tournaments.

INTRAMURAL GOLF

LEADING golfers on the campus staged a merry duel last fall for the State college intramural championship. Out of a classy field of linksmen emerged Bob Mills, Stimson Hall, as titlist for 1928-29. Mills played sterling golf from the first round to the last, and his shot-making and match generalship were worthy of championship honors.

Henry Green, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was runner-up for the crown. He swung some mighty clubs win sail into the finals, where he gave Mills a busy afternoon before the last green was reached. John Forbes, Phi Delta Theta, took third honors, while Clifford Fredericks, Theta Xi, finished fourth. Sixteen men were entered in the tournament, which was on an elimination basis. Donald McLain served as tourney manager.

JUNIOR PROM

A swaying mass of crimson and gray canopied the ballroom of the new gymnasium on April 27, when the class of 1930 honored this year's graduates at the annual Junior Prom. Thousands of balloons and miles of paper streamers swung lightly above the dancers and about the orchestra and the Popularity Queen, who reigned from a white throne at one end of the pavilion. Black and white silhouettes shaded under the glow of colored lights formed the sides of the hall, and silhouetted figures danced gracefully on the programs for the evening.

JUNIOR PROM QUEEN

A great white throne, above which hung a huge question mark and about which swung balloons against a background of crimson and gray streamers, was the center of attraction at the Junior Prom. The final vote on the five co-eds who were elected by an Evergreen ballot as candidates for popularity queen, was taken Friday afternoon when the contestants passed in review before the student audience at the Junior Vodvil.

After the sixth dance of the evening, the junior class president announced that Dorothy Robinson had been chosen Queen of the Prom, and, acting for the class of '30, presented her with a pyralin-fitted overnight bag.

JUNIOR VODVIL

This is station J-U-N-I-O-R, broadcasting on a –30– wave length. This station is owned and operated by E. O. Holland, Anne Fertig and Carl Morrow, in conjunction with the ABC, NBC, WYCA, WCTU, NP, OWR&N, YMCA and George Cole. Operating under difficulties with forty-three kilocycles, ninety-seven motorcycles and a whole flock of tri-cycles.

Such was the introduction given each of the acts of the Junior Vodvil presented in conjunction with the beauty contest. Jenne Jenson tripped down a fiord from Sweden to get on the more prominent figures on the campus. A program sponsored by the Colfax Smelt and Salmon Syndicate was broadcasted from the subsidiary station of the Timbuctoo chain, located on the mezzanine floor of the Colton stockyards. Checkers, Pritchard and Co. & Hungate, a play by Intercollegiate Players, rounded out the Vodvil. The climaxing feature was the appearance of the five contestants for Prom Queen honors. Outfitted by Pullman merchants the Misses Helen Gorham, Lillian Distad, Grace Wilcox, Christine Pederson, and Dorothy Robinson, walked across the stage for the approval of the student body. The Vodvil over, attention was turned to the Junior Prom, the peak of Junior Week-End.

VARSITY BALL

GERALD IHLER
Chairman

The new gymnasium was for the first time the scene of the annual Varsity Ball, given in honor of the football team and coaches, on December 8 of this year.

In the center of the ball room, Benson's eleven-piece orchestra from Moscow sent syncopated strains from a raised "pit" decorated in crimson and gray.

"Butch," the cougar, for the second time in his life, appeared at the affair as mascot of his team. Experience had hardened him to the social whirl of college life, and he reclined in his cage in the corner of the room, unperturbed, with a bored expression on his face.

The sixth and twelfth dances were reserved for the Varsity men and the Gray "W" Club members, respectively. These dances have been featured before, but never as effectively as the big gymnasium floor made possible, this year.

MILITARY BALL

A regiment of toy soldiers marched across the center section of the gold and parchment programs which graced the twenty-eighth annual Military Ball, given on the evening of March 9 by E Company, Second Regiment of Scabbard and Blade.

The bright blaze of flags from every nation contrasted with the metallic glint of machine guns, transforming the new gymnasium into a maze of militarism. Prominent military men of the state were guests at the affair. General Weyrauch led the Grand March which marked the opening of the ball.

ENGINEERS' BALL

CLYDE KIMBROUGH
Chairman

Vari-colored lights shining through a canopy of green and white streamers shed a subdued glow on the dancers at the Engineers' Ball, March 16. Frannie Wilcox's orchestra furnished music for the 175 couples who thronged the women's gymnasium that evening. Pledging of new members to Tau Beta Pi was featured during the intermission.

GAY GALLEY GALLOP

Gallies of proof telling the latest scandal of the prominent student journalists at Washington State, with glaring heads and by-lines, directed the activities of the revellers at the Gay Galley Gallop on May 3. Members of the Evergreen, Chinook and Cougar's Paw staffs assembled that evening for the annual publications dance to forget the daily grind of work and to meet each other just for fun.

BELLES' BALL

Campus belles rang door-bells, calling for the boy-friends to come frolic with them at the Green Lantern, on the evening of Friday, December 7.

The demure and blushing maidens sat in the fraternity house drawing rooms, impatient and embarrassed, while the lucky men's less fortunate brothers told them of the difficulties their dates were encountering. Stolen socks and unironed shirts were not the subjects which the lady callers were accustomed to discussing in elite society.

They heaved sighs of relief when the favored gentlemen finally presented themselves, and the fraternity house door closed behind them.

Three hours of dancing to good music, with intermissions for punch—that wasn't "spiked"—contributed to the success of Mortar Board's annual cabaret.

GOLDDIGGERS' DRAG

Going back to the days of '49, the adventurous co-eds of Washington State got out their picks and shovels and dug up the cash to take their "secret sorrows" and "public laments" to the Golddiggers Drag, February 8.

Bags of gold, picks, and golden streamers transformed the Green Lantern into a miner's paradise, which Mortar Board's guests enjoyed until eleven-thirty, when the paradise was lost.

THE AD CLUB

Purpose: To bring together those who are interested in advertising as a profession the Ad club holds semi-monthly meetings, at which time experienced business or professional men from the Spokane Advertising club or similar organizations are brought to the State College as speakers. The Ad club is a member of the Pacific Coast Advertising Association.

This year it has handled successfully the selling of the "History of the State College of Washington," by Dr. E. A. Bryan. It sponsored the first annual spring style show which, carried out in the form of a vodvil exposition, did much to weld together the related school and town interests of Pullman.

The Chinook

Volume XXX

WITH the publication of the 1929 Chinook the thirtieth milestone of the State College finds its way into student history. We shall not pass this way again, except in memory, and so the yearbook has tried to make its story truly portray the activity of Washington State. It has endeavored to picture the progress that has been made within the walls of the school, and to find and chronicle all records of achievement, that those who come after may measure their advancement by the accomplishments set down by their predecessors.

The book has grown with the expansion of the departments of the college; it has added to its pages as new and strengthened forces have found their way on the campus. It has taken what it has found, and recorded without comment the substance of student and faculty contributions in the way of organization and enterprise. It has added a few pages dedicated to that intangible something known as "college life," in an attempt to round out its picture of 1928-29. With those into whose hands The Chinook falls rests the final judgment as to whether or not it has achieved as it has striven.

The Chinook

Volume XXX

Although the size of the business staff of the 1929 Chinook is not so large as in past years, the work accomplished compares favorably with that of previous years.

Obviously, a book of the type which is put out annually by the Associated Students, must have financial backing. It is the duty of the business staff to secure the necessary funds, which involve the supervision of sales, advertising, publicity, circulation and collection. The department begins its work early in the fall, and continues until the close of the school year.

The staff owes much to the whole-hearted cooperation given by the various firms and individuals who have taken space in the advertising section.

This year's book has incorporated many additional features which call for larger funds, but through close cooperation with the editorial department, expenses have been closely checked. As a result, this yearbook is presented to the students at the same nominal cost which have prevailed in the past.

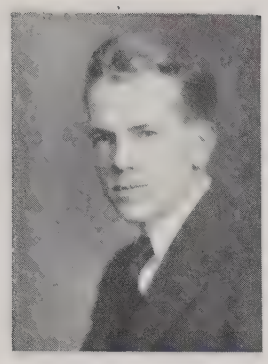
Washington State Evergreen

A new name, Washington State Evergreen, giving the paper a more meaningful connection with the institution, decked out the tri-weekly student publication of the State College this year. This with other changes, some good, some bad, has shared with the past in attempting to steadily improve the quality of the Evergreen.

It has been the hope of State College journalists on the publication to parallel if not surpass other coast college publications. This aim, to be an important dispenser of news, the chief reason for any newspaper's existence, has given root to the Evergreen's foremost policy this past year—to print all that is best for the State College of Washington and to foster the best interests of the student body through the columns of a newspaper devoted to all that pertains to make a better institution.

In approaching such an ideal, the Washington State Evergreen has left a record of campus life for the college year of 1928-29, and has offered to members of its staff an opportunity for actual newspaper experience, with its contacts which leave memories of work and friendship of a life made richer through time spent gathering facts and pounding out copy.

Assistants



ELMER HENRY
Assistant Business Manager

Washington State Evergreen

Hard work, smooth salesmanship, and the cooperation of Pullman merchants, have built up the Evergreen advertising, which is the principal revenue source of the college tri-weekly. As is generally the case with any newspaper or magazine, only a comparatively small amount of the "working capital" is made up of the subscription price paid by subscribers.

The efficiency of the business staff is the background for a successful paper, and every man from the delivery boys to the managers feels a definite responsibility for his job. With this as the base of cooperation, only one thing could be the result: a smoothly running, financially sound publication, with a maximum circulation.

DON PHIPPS
Business Manager

The staff organization of the Evergreen is modeled after a metropolitan paper, with four major and three minor departments, which include the following: the advertising department, in charge of contracts, soliciting, and checking of all advertising insertions; the circulation department, which handles the distribution and soliciting of all subscriptions; the collection department, in charge of the billing and collecting of all accounts; and the office manager, who has charge of all office work and publication reports. The minor departments are subdivisions of the four major departments.

The Cougar's Paw, official comic of the State College, furnishes an outlet for the creators of literature, humor and artwork. Published quarterly, it relies entirely upon the talent of local artists, and upon clippings from other college magazines throughout the country. Its purpose is to show the lighter side of college life not covered by the Evergreen or the Chinook.

The Board of Publications exists for the purpose of passing upon the eligibility of the candidates for the major positions on the three State College publications. Through the functioning of this board the possibility of placing inexperienced editors or managers on the staffs of the Evergreen, the Chinook and the Cougar's Paw is eliminated.

The board consists of the associate professor in journalism, the graduate manager, the president of the A. S. S. C. W., the editor of one publication and the manager of another.

JOE L. ASHLOCK

Students of journalism at the State College have come to know Mr. Ashlock as a professor and a frank advisor. He is never too busy to help a student in time of need.

Mr. Ashlock has been here since 1919—returning to his Alma Mater after his graduation in 1909. Since then he has devoted his time and energy to stimulate interest in journalism and newspaper work. So well has he done his work that it has been necessary to add another professor to the journalism school.

DRAMATICS

MAYNARD LEE DAGGY

E. CYNTHIA LARRY

DRAMATICS

A BRILLIANT dramatic season for 1928-29 at the State College of Washington may be attributed in the main to the joint efforts of Maynard Lee Daggy, head of the department of speech, and E. Cynthia Larry, instructor in speech, who is completing her second year of successful direction of State College plays.

Four outstanding productions, each of a somewhat different type, were offered during the year. Three of these were given under the direction of Miss Larry. Eugene O'Neill's famous tragedy, "Beyond the Horizon," which is usually regarded as too difficult for amateur interpretation, was given a splendid portrayal under her guidance.

The opening play of the year was Channing Pollock's powerful drama, "The Enemy," which was enthusiastically received by its audiences. Two casts presented "The Enemy" Friday and Saturday evenings, November 9 and 10. Mr. Daggy took over the direction of the second presentation, Molnar's famous satire, "The Swan." Again two casts gave a finished and sparkling performance on each of the two nights, December 16 and 17.

Miss Larry again took the reins in "Loose Ankles," a clever farce which seemed to take the house by storm on both nights, Feb. 23-24. "Loose Ankles" was a decided change from the two previous plays, and its comedy parts and clever dialogue brought forth gales of laughter. In her final presentation, Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," presented April 19 and 20, Miss Larry brought out some of the finest student dramatic work ever seen on the State College campus. Though difficult to produce, due to its many scene changes and dramatic intensity, the play was an artistic triumph for both director and cast.

From "The Enemy"

"THE ENEMY"

The first play of the 1928-29 season, "The Enemy," by Channing Pollock, given Friday and Saturday evenings, November 9 and 10, was termed "one of the best plays ever produced on the W. S. C. campus" by the majority of those who attended. It was directed by E. Cynthia Larry, who has been unusually successful in dramatic work for the past two years.

As Americans, the audience found the stirring drama of vital interest because it presents the World War "from the other side," proving that "the enemy" had the same feelings and struggles as did the allies. Unlike most war productions it deals with the lives of those at home rather than those of the men at the front, though the sensitive, poetic hero, Carl Behrend, is killed in the Austrian lines. The production left the audience with the conviction that the real enemy is commercialized hate.

Included in the cast were:

Act III "Loose Ankles"

"LOOSE ANKLES"

"Loose Ankles," a three-act farce comedy by Sam Janney, presented by the Department of Speech February 22 and 23, was rollicking entertainment from the first to the last curtain. A generous amount of real cleverness in dialogue, snappiness of action and a realistic resemblance to life situations made the audience break in time and again with enthusiastic applause.

To Miss E. Cynthia Larry goes much of the credit for the outstanding success of the performance, which played before capacity houses both nights. The casts were:

"The Champion," 1928 Senior Class Play

"THE SWAN"

"The Swan," romantic comedy by Franz Molnar, was selected by the speech department as its second production of the year, and proved a distinct success. The play was especially lovely and unusual in its stage and costume effects.

The story deals with the ambitious Princess Beatrice, who, since the dethronement of her family, has lived only for the day when her daughter may wear the imperial robes. What happens when Crown Prince Albert visits the castle of Beatrice with a view to considering the lovely young daughter, Alexandra, as a possible wife, constitutes the striking story which Molnar presents.

Directed by Maynard Lee Daggy, head of the speech department, the production proved to be three acts of tense and highly humorous situations, with clever original conversation, full of the delicious satire for which the author is most distinguished.

The cast was as follows:

Friday Evening	CHARACTERS	Saturday Evening
Virginia Worley	Princess Beatrice	Verna Knight
Jane McPherson	Symphorosa, her sister	Marjorie Taylor
Francis Reiter	Father Hyacinth	Francis Reiter

"Loose Ankles"

"BEYOND THE HORIZON"

Eugene O'Neill's famous tragedy, "Beyond the Horizon," the first O'Neill play to be presented at the State College, was produced under the direction of Miss Cynthia Larry. It is a tragedy of misfits, in which two brothers of a New England family fall in love with a neighbor girl, and was executed with a seriousness that surpassed the usual college play, at times rising to poignant and shaking tragic force.

Louise Reed, as the neighbor girl, did a splendid piece of characterization in portraying the primitive Ruth Atkins. The role of Robert Mayo, a misfit in life, was exceptionally well delineated by Ed Murrow. The tragedy reached the climax in the last scene when Robert Mayo, wasted by tuberculosis, crawled out of the house to die alone in a ditch, by the open road, watching the sun rise.

The cast included only experienced players, and each actor portrayed with marked ability a difficult character role. The excellently trained cast, the unique lighting effect, and the impressive settings were combined in making this production the most outstanding event of the dramatic season. The cast included:

Harold Moan ..... James Mayo, a farmer
Zora Cooper ..... Kato Mayo, his wife
Ralph McBride ..... Capt. Dick Scott, of the bark Sunda, her brother
Walter Swanson ..... Andrew Mayo, son of James Mayo
Ed Murrow ..... Robert Mayo, son of James Mayo
Louise Reed ..... Ruth Atkins
Mildred Burt ..... Mrs. Atkins, her widowed mother

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

THE program of outside talent which was brought to the W. S. C. campus during the school year of 1928-29 by the Associated Students of the State College of Washington, included several splendid dramatic productions. Among them were the Moroni Olsen Players, who have become real favorites with W. S. C. students and who appeared three times during the year.

A feature for W. S. C. was the appearance of Addison (Tad) Richards, 1926 graduate of the State College department of speech, now a member of the Olsen Company.

"Expressing Willie"

"Expressing Willie," a comedy by Rachel Crothers and the first of the series to be presented at Pullman, is the story of a young man who makes a fortune in tooth powder and then decides to hunt for "the greater things in life." It is filled with laughable incidents, the sharp-tongued mother of Willie, with her practical sense in the midst of would-be visionaries, offering considerable comedy of character.

"Autumn Fire"

THE Moroni Olsen Players presented "Autumn Fire," a three-act tragedy by T. C. Nurry, Friday, March 1. This was their second appearance here this year, and the drama shown was made doubly interesting in that local playgoers enjoyed seeing Addison (Tad) Richards in a prominent part on the W. S. C. stage again.

"Autumn Fire" is a play of Irish countryside, and through the superb acting of each member of the company the various types of Irish characters were depicted with genuine reality.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

J. W. Zellner

ONE of the interesting features among outside attractions this year was J. W. Zellner, Protean characterist, who appeared in a group of striking impersonations Saturday, February 16. Comedy characters, including Huck Finn, Mark Twain and Abe Martin, and great historic figures such as Moses, Peter, Judas Iscariot, Abraham Lincoln, Robert E. Lee, etc., were depicted by Zellner in a truly remarkable manner. Making his changes with lightning speed, the entire performance met with decided success.

"What Every Woman Knows"

Irresistably charming, with a charm that only Barrie can weave into the fabric of a play, "What Every Woman Knows," came to Pullman May 4 as the season's final offering by the first Circuit Repertory company of the Moroni Olsen Players.

Into the play, James M. Barrie puts one of the secrets that women have carried with them from the Garden of Eden. It is the quiet little Scotch wife who plays the master stroke.

"What Every Woman Knows" was beautifully adapted to casting in the personnel of the group of artists with Moroni Olsen, and was a delicately written sort of play that needed the handling of a company that has schooled itself in ensemble work of the kind that characterizes the acting of this group.

"Mother and Dad"

A prodigious feat of memory and characterization was exhibited January 11 in the auditorium when Gay MacLaren, dramatic artist, presented all 11 roles of a play written by herself and entitled "Mother and Dad." It consisted of a variety of young and old characters which allowed her to exercise her talent to its greatest capacity.

Miss MacLaren has a wonderful facility for making real whatever character she is portraying. She takes these various roles with perfect ease and creates the illusion with the audience that it is actually seeing the play presented by a number of actors.

MILITARY

MAJOR SAMUEL A. GIBSON

COMING to Washington State from the Command and General Staff School of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Major Samuel A. Gibson took over the position of professor of Military Science and Tactics, and Commandant of the Cadets two years ago.

To arouse the Cadets' interest and cooperation in military training, Major Gibson instituted an honorary military organization known as the Governor's Rifles, and a plan of award for good work and appearance. As a consequence of the new plan and the resultant cooperation of the cadets, the State College Reserve Officers Training Corps was accorded the rating of "Proficient" following inspection by the ninth corps area last year.

Major Gibson's military life since his graduation from West Point in 1913 has been varied and colorful. After receiving the rank of Second Lieutenant upon completing his course, he was stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, with the 21st Infantry. Between 1915 and the outbreak of the World War, the 21st Infantry served in quelling trouble on the Mexican border.

In the World War, Major Gibson saw service with the Sixth Division in Alsace and the Meuse. He was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the National Army.

After the signing of the Armistice, Major Gibson became attached to the General Staff at Washington, D. C. Later he attended the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia. Upon graduating, the Major served three years in the Hawaiian Department.

After his graduation from the Leavenworth School, two years ago, Major Gibson assumed his duties at Washington State College.

MUSIC

LAVERNA E. KIMBROUGH
Director of the Combined Glee Clubs

THE GLEE CLUBS

IN KEEPING with the policy of giving something different to the glee club audiences throughout the state, the combined songster organization this year presented an elaborate revue with a variety of features that were entirely original when they made their statewide tour the last two weeks of March.

During that time, they filled engagements in 11 towns, ending with the two home concerts on March 29 and 30.

LaVerna E. Kimbrough, who for six years has been closely associated with the glee clubs, directed the groups this season, and is largely responsible for the success of the program. With her musical training and long experience to guide her, the mixed organizaaion which she perfected showed a smoothness of performance and musical finish that was indicative of careful direction.

The Collegiate Foursome, original musical comedy, chorus work, the mixed quartet, the women's trio, Cougar Steppers in comedy dancing, and Dorothy Robinson and Raymond Howell in violin duet numbers were the highlights of the presentation.

THE MIXED QUARTET

WIXSON WILCOX TERRY SPENCER

HULL YOUSE RICE ANDERSON

An original musical skit, "The Evolution of a Freshman," was the feature of the 1929 concert. Mrs. Kimbrough composed the music, while Patricia See, a student, wrote the libretto. Mrs. Kimbrough has written several original songs, the best known of which is "My Co-Ed," a song lyric that has won national recognition.

The comedy lines of "The Evolution of a Freshman" were characterized by a vigor and speed that made it extremely interesting. Four years in the life of a college student were depicted by the four scenes, interpreted with music, dancing, and dialogue.

Freda Peterson and Harvey Wixson, both making their fourth and farewell tours with the State College glee clubs, sang the leads, alternating with Grace Wilcox and Bob Youse. Ronald Rice, also making his fourth tour, had the character lead—the part of the traditional book worm. Lloyd Anderson sang a bass role, while Bernard Hull interpreted one of the tenor solo parts. Patricia See as the college widow did some excellent contralto solo work. Petite Mueller and Abner Kramer as the Cougar Steppers were outstanding, and furnished the highlight of comedy in their interpretation of a variety of dances.

Special numbers by the male and mixed quartets, the girls' trio, and the violinists, gave the skit vivacity.

Top Row—Bronson, Throssel, Myers, Dils, See, Ness, Wilcox, Austin, Beasley, Terry
Bottom Row—Klein, Weatherford, Sherfey, M. C. Allen, Quick, Hardy, Currie

The modern motif carried out by the glee clubs this season was heightened by the use of new drops and brilliant curtains in their program this year. These properties were carried with them on the special stage chartered for the trip, and contributed much to the success of the performances.

Those who made the trip were:

First Soprano—	First Alto—	First Tenor—	Baritone—
Freda Peterson	Florence Currie	Harvey Wixson	Dorcy Spencer
Grace Wilcox	Ruth Bronson	Robert Youse	John Groenig

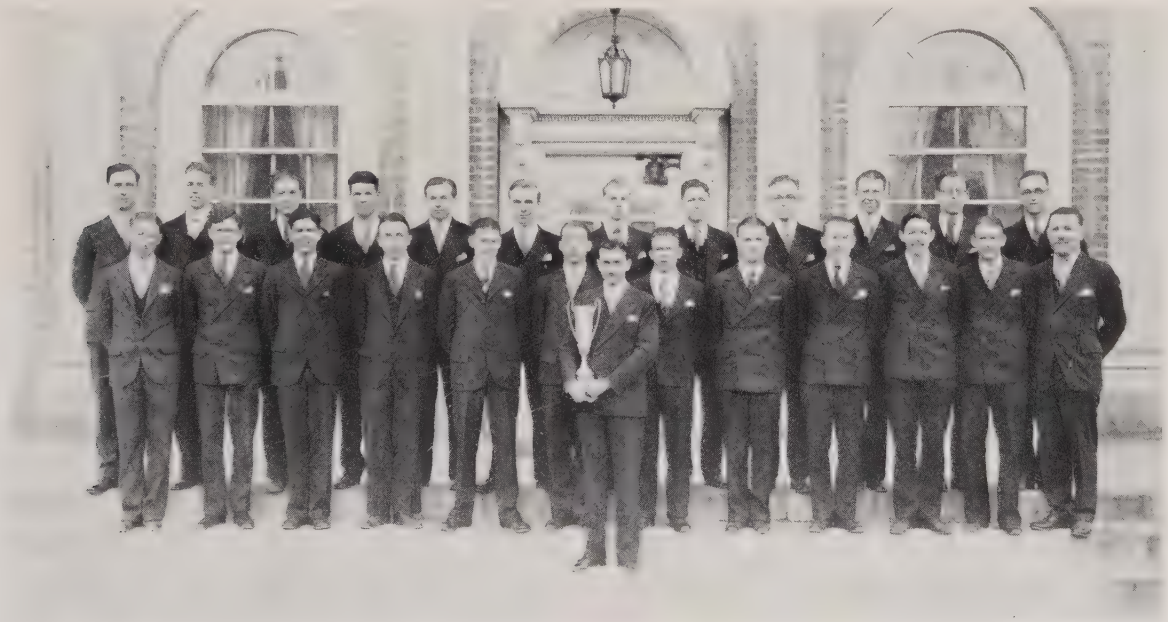
SONG CONTEST

Alpha Chi Omega and Stimson Hall now have permanent possession of cups offered by Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternities, to promote interest in college songs.

The cup was to be won three years in succession before it should pass into the permanent possession of the groups. The songs which the groups sang were specified by the music fraternities, to be given before college students at a certain time.

Alpha Chi Omega and Stimson Hall sang the Alma Mater song, "Washington, My Washington," the victory song, and "Forth Our Warriors Go."



Top Row—Vercoe, Crossland, McCay, Harrop, Hubbard, Clarke, Reister, Franklin, Berkey, Rasmussen, Todd, Sanders
Bottom Row—Kassebaum, Yates, Taylor, Schulerud, Parrott, Leff, Watkinson, Barry, Mathis, Tjerandsen, Mills, Spencer

COLLEGE PEP BAND

The stirring music of the college Pep Band is a feature of all pep rallies and major athletic contests. Their bright-colored and collegiate uniforms—gray trousers and crimson and gray sweaters—always occupy a place of prominence on the athletic field, where they entertain spectators with a variety of marches and popular selections interspersed with college songs.

Harold P. Wheeler of the music department faculty is director of the band, and Ronald Rice is the leader.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

With the addition of an unusual amount of excellent talent among students who entered Washington State College in September, 1928, the orchestra this year is the best that it has been for some time, according to a statement of Karel Havlicek, conductor. Admission is granted as a result of competitive tryouts held at the first of each semester. The group meets as a regular class for rehearsal three times a week, credit being given toward graduation. The orchestra has appeared several times on the Sunday afternoon vesper programs this year, as well as broadcasting concerts over station KWSC. Their repertoire includes the works of both classical and modern composers.

MISCHA ELMAN, Violinist

Mischa Elman, violinist, presented a concert in the new gymnasium on March 15. The world-renowned artist had just returned from a tour of 14 European countries. He is a master in the art of program building; his programs have made him a sensation on three continents. In building his programs, he keeps in mind the formula that all artists must remember to include selections which will demonstrate the various styles of violin composition. His program included something from the classical period, the 17th century era, and modern and popular numbers.

RUSSIAN CHOIR

The first Associated Students attraction to be held in the new gymnasium was the Russian Choir under the direction of Basile Kibalchich, which appeared October 19 to usher in the activities of Homecoming. The large audience was held spellbound by the singing which was almost beyond belief and has been described by one critic as having "the supple and marvelous flection of a complex and living organ."

"KEN-GEKI"

"Ken-Geki," a fascinating and unusual drama, was presented in the auditorium November 30 by the Imperial Troupe of Tokio, composed of the foremost artists of Japan. Their exotic costumes centuries old, sumptuous stage properties and scenic settings made the performance outstanding.

ARTHUR JOHNSON

Lyrical quality of tone and clear diction marked the singing of Arthur Johnson, noted tenor, who received enthusiastic approval from his audience in the college auditorium, Friday, November 2. From the opening Italian numbers until the last American song, "Magic Night," it was evident that he knew his subject.

Unusual versatility was shown by Mr. Johnson in his portrayal of the moods of traditional selections. His joyous personality was very much in keeping with the program, and inspiration was given especially to student listeners because Mr. Johnson himself was musically trained in an American college.

ANNA CASE, Soprana

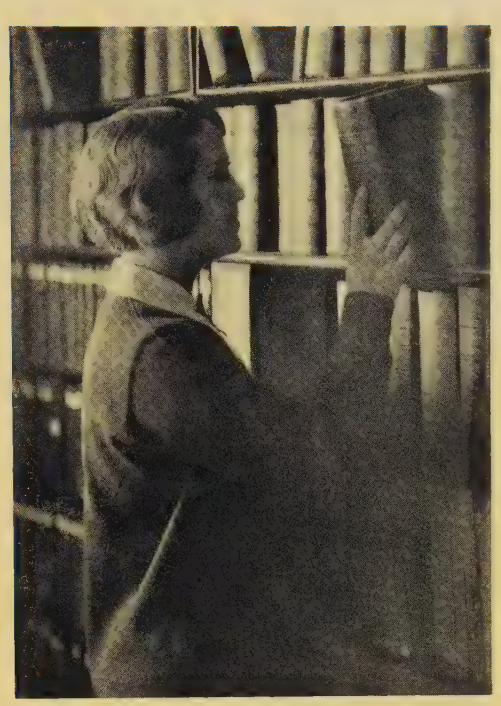
Miss Anna Case, world-famous "aristocrat of concert sopranos," formerly with the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang in the auditorium on January 25. Her program of ancient and modern classics was varied and interesting. Miss Case is one of the best known singers before the public. Wherever she has sung, she has called forth sincere praise, not only for her beautiful voice, but for her personal beauty and charm.



FORENSIC

W. H. VEATCH
Debate Coach

FORENSIC, 1928-29

THAT the year '28-'29 has been the "best since two debates constituted a full season" is the consensus of opinion in debating circles. The record for the year reads fifteen contests won, four lost against last year's score of nine meets won and eleven lost.

Much of the credit for this remarkable progress goes to William Homer Veatch, director of debate at Washington State college. He came here two years ago from the University of California at Los Angeles where he was instructor in speech. He has also instructed in the same department at the University of Utah and was head of the department at South Dakota Wesleyan university. He is national president of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic honorary, and a member of Delta Sigma Rho. He is also affiliated with National Collegiate Players and Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honoraries.

As debate manager Hazel Shoemaker has done much to further the success of the season. Miss Shoemaker had the distinction of being the only woman debate manager among co-educational institutions of the Pacific coast. In addition to her work as manager she has been exceedingly active in debating.

Pullman, February 13—Practiced twenty minutes before start. 1. Place box of candy under right arm with left hand; 2. Place purse under left arm with right hand; 3. Bend knees cautiously and grasp Bag I in right hand; 4. Keeping knees bent and arms close to sides reach for Bag II; Unbend knees and hold pose while arguing over who has to carry the typewriter.

Linfield, February 14—For crying out in the rain! No taxies!

University of Southern California, February 19—Lylia gets lost in Los Angeles library!—Mr. Veatch in a state of nervous collapse after U. S. C. co-eds give northern visitors auto ride through Los Angeles traffic.—Corsages compliments U. S. C.

University of California at Los Angeles, February 20—Lylia is chided for making faces at audience during debate. Excuses self by saying, "It was such a chummy debate, I couldn't help it!"

Pomona college, February 21—Drove out from Los Angeles eating oranges and throwing the skins recklessly about.—Hazel holds audience spellbound while she sweeps to climactic close of speech, at most dramatic moment falls off stage!! Mr. Veatch thus rudely awakened tries to remember if he had recommended this gesture for emphasis.

California School of Technology, February 22—Spoke on co-educational question before student body of 500 men! Chivalry proves motif of contest!—"Most thunderous applause in four years debating experience!" —Afterwards pose for pictures to be used in Cal. Tech. yearbook.

California State college, February 25—(Sh! All about Mr. Veatch and the red-headed woman debater!!")

Mills college, February 26—Audience sits on davenports before fireplace while Lylia and Hazel dash off rebuttals on a hand-carved mahogany table.

University of Oregon, February 28—Visited with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Palmer.—Saw W. S. C. win from U. of O. by score of one. Did Boy Scout deed for day by sitting near scoreboard and telling boys who all Wash. State players were.

Oregon State college, March 1—Everybody tired. Lylia takes some weight off shoulders by getting a shag!

Pacific University, March 2—"It was all over Forest Grove that a blonde, a brunette, and a man were in town!"

INTRAMURAL DEBATE

Community Hall and Ferry Hall were winners of the intramural debate series for 1928-29. Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic fraternity, sponsors the intramural debate tourney each year and awards silver loving cups to the men's and women's group which becomes champion by process of elimination. Ferry Hall, by winning the men's award for the third time this year gained permanent ownership of the trophy. Margaret Shultz and Esther Anderson represented Community Hall in the series, while Carl Singer and Austin Fly comprised the Ferry Hall team competing in the finals.

The question debated was: Resolved, That Mussolini has been of benefit to Italy.

MISCELLANEOUS

J. EDWIN LESLIE

GENERAL news of the college is handled by J. Edwin Leslie, editor of Publications. This includes material of general interest as well as local news ends emanating from the agricultural experiment station, engineering experiment, general college, and the associated students.

Mr. Leslie's office provides a daily news service for papers of the Northwest, including all the dailies of Washington, and several larger ones in Oregon, Idaho and Montana. This service consists of general news stories, individual stories of interest only to a certain locality and prepared usually for a single newspaper, pictures for those papers equipped to use same, and mats for those not equipped.

A weekly service is also provided for all weekly publications in the state which includes a group of mimeographed stories sent out each week and individual stories such as sent to dailies. This service also goes to many publications in various parts of the United States.

Magazines, feature sections of Sunday newspapers and other news purveyors equipped to handle the same are supplied with illustrated features. National feature services are also provided with illustrated feature articles, 42 of these being accepted by the larger services during the past year. These feature syndicates include such as Associated Press, NEA, Central Press, Wide World, Pacific and Atlantic, Western Features Syndicate, Underwood and Underwood.

HOWARD GREER

WORKING in direct cooperation with the graduate manager and the executive body of the Associated Students, Howard Greer, as director of the A. S. S. C. W. News Service, has charge of all publicity concerning athletics and entertainment features sponsored by the student body. In addition, he is business manager of the glee clubs and editorial supervisor of the Evergreen, tri-weekly student newspaper.

The principal duties connected with the position of director of the news service relate to the releasing of advance sport stories, the handling of all publicity connected with entertainments and lectures under the auspices of the student association and the direction of all news concerning the A. S. S. C. W. He also acts as advance man for the football team in creating interest in games played away from home.

STATION KWSC

OPERATED exclusively by students, KWSC, Washington State College broadcasting station, holds a unique position among radio stations of the United States. It is one of the pioneer plants of the country, being organized and assembled only one year after the oldest station, KDKA at East Pittsburg, flashed its initial message.

On January 1 of this year the old four-hour-week schedule was abandoned for one of twelve and one-half hours. Broadcasts include basketball and football games, as well as regular musical and lecture programs.

The Tuesday morning home economics broadcast for women is a feature added to the KWSC schedule this year. The Vesper Hour program goes on the air regularly from this station, also.

Announcers, program managers, and the radio mechanics or technicians of Station KWSC have been undergraduates from the beginning. The present staff is: Arvilla Weisel, program director; Harvey Wixon, announcer; Kenneth King, operator. All the material broadcasted is furnished free of charge, usually by students or faculty members of the State College.

Letters received indicate that KWSC covers a wide territory. Communications have been mailed from Alaska, Hawaii, Liverpool, New York, the middle western states, and from Saskatchewan, Canada. Probably 200,000 radio sets in Washington get KWSC each week, as compared to approximately 1,000 when the plant was first installed.

STOCK JUDGING -- ANIMAL HUSBANDRY

"BEAUTY is bought by judgment of the eye," said Shakespeare. The two faculties which require special development are observation and judgment. The eye must see quickly and accurately, so that there may be no mistake in the observations which are to form the basis for a conclusion. To formulate an ideal is absolutely essential, and in doing this, it is imperative to familiarize one's self with the good qualities of animal life, correct conformation, and the high types.

Recognizing the importance of interesting young men in the study of efficient types of domestic animals, the larger livestock expositions have made college stock judging contests an important feature of their program. The college courses, stimulated by these intercollegiate judging contests, are able to train young men during the short time they are in college to see and appreciate the value of the fine points of improved livestock types. This same training requires a much longer time if one has to gain it through the school of experience.

During many years past, the Washington State College has been represented in the western states judging contests at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, and occasionally at the great international livestock judging contest held at Chicago.

The Animal Husbandry judging team this year, rated on their ability to judge draft horses, beef cattle, sheep and hogs, were second in the contest. The Washington team was only a few points behind the leading team. University of British Columbia, Oregon State College, Montana Agricultural College, University of Idaho, and the University of California, had teams entered in this contest.

Ben Swier of Yakima County was the high man on the Washington team, and will have the distinction of being the first man to have his name engraved on the Animal Husbandry trophy, which is to be hung in the corridor in Wilson Hall.

DAIRY PRODUCTS JUDGING TEAM

Fall, 1928

THE team composed of Ray Carson, Chewelah, Melvin Krumbah, Walla Walla, and Percy Clarke, Lynden, competed at the Pacific International Livestock Show at Portland with teams from the University of California, Oregon State College, University of Idaho, and Montana State College. Milk, butter, cheese and ice cream were judged. The team placed second in cheese, third in milk, third in butter, and third in ice cream. Carson was second in butter, fifth in cheese and fifth in all products of the entire group of fifteen contestants, while Krumbah placed fourth in cheese and seventh in ice cream and seventh in all products. Percy Clarke was sixth in judging ice cream. Ice cream was judged for the first time in 1928. First team placing in all products was won by the University of California.

In 1927 the State College team won first place in judging milk and also first place in judging butter.

These contests are sponsored annually by the Western Division of the American Dairy Science Association.

DAIRY CATTLE JUDGING TEAM

EACH year the State College of Washington is represented in the dairy cattle judging contest held at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, Portland. In 1928 the team was awarded second in judging all breeds in competition with teams from the University of British Columbia, University of California, the University of Idaho, the University of Nevada, and Oregon State College. In addition to winning second in judging all breeds, this team stood first in judging Holsteins, second in Jerseys and Ayrshires and third in Guernseys.

The men who composed this team were A. F. Harms, of Pullman, J. F. Horr of Portland, Emil Nelson of Port Stanley, with Ward Vander Griend of Lynden, as alternate.

Anton Harms ranked fourth among the eighteen contestants in judging the four breeds of dairy cattle. He was also second in judging Jerseys for which he was awarded a silver medal.

"Jim" Horr was awarded a set of beautiful bookends for placing first in judging Guernseys. Emil Nelson was high man on the team in judging Holsteins.

Each member of the team was awarded a bronze medal for winning the team competition in judging Holsteins.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS OF THE STATE COLLEGE OF WASHINGTON

Automatically upon enrolling at the State College, every woman student becomes a member of the Associated Women Students of the State College of Washington. The organization, formerly the Women's League, was founded in 1912, and is a member of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Intercollegiate Association of University Women, embodies in its program enterprises which promote democracy, unification, scholarship, interest and leadership in student undertakings.

The Big Sister program is the first activity which brings women of the organization together, being essentially a means by which the upperclass girls can assist the new women students to get acquainted with the curriculum and activity of the school. The A. W. S. S. C. W. sponsors the annual College Revue to raise funds for a women's building. It also aids in the High School Vocational Conference and Mothers' Week-end, to bind the parent and student interests through understanding of the school routine.

THE BIG SISTER MOVEMENT

Big sisters are appointed by the Associated Women Students to assist freshmen girls in registering and adjusting themselves to college life. This year the plan of working through captains was employed. One captain was chosen from each hall and group and two from the town girls. Each captain had under her from five to fifteen big sisters, and each big sister had three little sisters. Both captains and big sisters were chosen because of their dependability and personality.

Captains for this year were:

"SPARERIBS AND GRAVY"

ALL-COLLEGE REVUE

VARIETY characterized the seventh annual All-College Revue presented November 16 and 17, directed this year by Ralph McBride, and sponsored by the Associated Women Students to raise funds for a women's building.

Two prizes were awarded for the best full acts, first place going to Kappa Delta with "Spareribs and Gravy," an eerie dance of skeletons among the tombstones of a moonlit graveyard. The cast included Ethel Phillips, Lorraine Terry, Nina Ogren, Helen Nelson, Fay Potter and Katherine Bernard. Kappa Kappa Gamma was awarded second prize, with a dream fantasy entitled "Between the Dark and the Daylight," while honorable mention went to Alpha Xi Delta for "Between the Pages." Other groups presenting full acts were Alpha Gamma, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Theta Upsilon won first prize for the best curtain act, presenting a well-costumed tumbling feature. The tumblers were Lillian Clark, Polly Bostwick and Edith Bentley.

The local Y. W. C. A. is one of the 590 similar groups in colleges and universities throughout the country which make up the national Young Women's Christian Association of the United States. The membership here is approximately 400, the group sponsoring a variety of campus activity, in which every girl is encouraged to take part.

Discussion groups maintained through the general and freshman commissions carry out the constructive program of the organization, and with the combination of the class commissions into a more central form last fall, as well as with the creation of interest groups, the organization has worked out a versatile program.

Y. W. C. A. PURPOSE

. . . We the members of the Young Women's Christian Association of the State College of Washington unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God . . .

. . . We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all . . .

. . . In this we seek to understand Jesus and follow him.

Sarah Neblett, as general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and who came here two years ago from Vallejo, California, where she was a leader in Girl Reserve work, has been a constant power for progress in the local organization. She is assisted by the Advisory Board, which includes: Mrs. C. C. Todd, chairman; Mrs. M. L. Daggy, Mrs. B. L. Steele, Mrs. S. C. Roberts, Miss Helen Richardson, Mrs. E. C. Schmieser, Mrs. J. P. HIGH SCHOOL WEEK-END

THE State College of Washington was host to about 400 high school delegates from all parts of the state at the first State High School Student Convention held on April 12-14, 1928.

Vice-President O. L. Waller presided at the opening session, and Reuben Youngquist, President of the Associated Students, gave the address of welcome, after which President E. O. Holland spoke to the students.

On Friday vocational group meetings, presided over by the various departments, were held in the different buildings on the campus and were attended by all high school students who were interested in particular fields.

The program Saturday afternoon was filled by activities of the military and physical education departments. A banquet, given by the Associated Students, a breakfast for the women delegates sponsored by Y. W. C. A., a baseball game between Gonzaga and W. S. C., and the college play "Love-in-the Mist" were included in the program of entertainment.

Open houses in all departments were held for the delegates. The object of the exhibit was to show the visitors some samples of the work done in each department and also the fields open to those who major in the various branches of study.

This convention was held to give vocational guidance to high school students, and to relate them with the part played by colleges in preparing young men and women for vocations.

ELEANOR HYSLOP

W. A. A.
FINAL EMBLEM AWARD

ATHLETIC accomplishment, supplemented by outstanding spirit, service, scholarship, and personality, constitute the attributes of the winner of the W. A. A. Final Emblem Award, who is selected each year by a committee of the athletic association.

Eleanor Hyslop was chosen to receive the emblem for 1928, by the award committee, which consists of the head of the department of physical education, a member of the faculty of that department, two senior members of W. A. A., an all-college senior, and a W. A. A. junior. The committee, which is selected in March, announces the winner on Women's Field Day.

Since the custom of giving such an award was started in 1921, ten women have received the honor. They include Lois Comstock, Amy Kelso, Virginia Shaw, Beryl Price, Margaret Wakefield, Mary Keith, Dorothy Tucker, Addie Copple, Frances Emerson and Eleanor Hyslop.

Women's Athletics

OFFICERS

VIOLA QUINN ..... President
VIOLA LESTER ..... Vice-President
BARBARA HOFMEISTER ..... Secretary
LILLIAN CLARK ..... Treasurer

Crimson "W", an honorary organization for women, is active in advancing the interests of campus women in athletic enterprise. Every girl who has made 900 points in athletics is awarded a Crimson "W" sweater and becomes a member of the organization.

Crimson "W" annually sponsors the Women's Jamboree, which occurs the same evening as the men's smoker, held during the first semester of each year. Prizes are awarded for best costumed group, couple, and individual. This year the McCroskey Hall girls, dressed as cannibals, received first prize for groups; Florence Hamilton and Leith Shaffer, dressed as patchwork ladies, were given first prize as a couple, while Alice Howland, attired in the garb of a French army officer, was selected as the most effectively costumed individual.

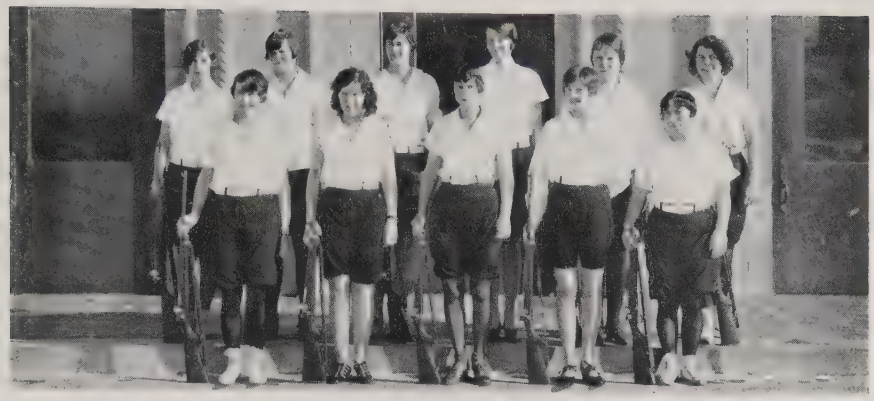
GIRLS' RIFLE TEAM



Savage, March, Gordon, Wright, Shaw, Mason
M. Schultz, Scott, Walton, Schirr, Negoescue

RIFLE

There was no definite selection made of the girls' rifle team this year, those making the highest score in practice being chosen to fire in the meets. Thirteen matches were held, most of which were with eastern colleges and universities.

HIKING

Hiking has long been a popular sport with W. S. C. co-eds, perhaps owing to the fact that it requires no particular talent and is confined to no special season of the year. The Women's Athletic Association has recognized its value as a health-giving activity by offering one hundred points for eight nine-mile hikes, or fifty points for four nine-mile hikes taken during any one semester under the leadership of a W. A. A. leader

HORSE-BACK RIDING

In order to present a well-rounded physical education program, and to give anyone interested a chance to master the fundamentals of horsemanship, a riding academy is maintained in connection with the physical education departments, and while the horses are not in use for regular classes, they may be hired for a reasonable charge. Regular credits are given for class work.

SENIOR TEAM
Shapley, Harrington, Quinn, McMillen, Clark, Lewis, Bentley, Lingley

BASKETBALL, 1929

With a superior brand of basketball, the junior team walked off with the class championship in a series played during the 1929 season under the tutelage of Frances Adams of the Women's Physical Education Department. All three of the other squads had two defeats and one victory to their credit.

JUNIOR TEAM
Back row—Adley, H. Allan, Duncan, Gordon, Bixler, McKay
Front row—Pell, Powers, Phillips, Hedborg

Front row—Shaffer, Johnson, Wegner, Mahoney, McMillen, G. Goff

At the close of the season, two all-star teams were chosen from the class squads, and these honor groups held a final scrimmage on March 23, just before the annual Sports Feed, sponsored by W. A. A., at which time all women's athletic awards are made, and the intramural cup presented. This is the first year the department has sponsored intramural clashes.

TITLE TILT

BASEBALL, 1928

BY DEFEATING the sophomores 16 to 11 in the final inter-class baseball game, which was played as a part of the Women's Day program, May 26, the juniors won the 1928 championship.

Class squads were chosen from those girls enrolled in baseball classes, who turned out for practices on Saturday mornings. Members of the squads were:

FRESHMEN

SOPHOMORES

Abbie Adley, Allie Amundson, Katherine Bernard, Verna Brewer, Dorothy Conroy, Emily George, Helen Hedborg, Ethel Phillips, Jewel Powers, Bessie Swift, Emma Webster, Madeline Wiley, Marian Hancock.

JUNIORS

Velma Batie, Edith Bentley, Anne Brunson, Lillian Clark, Hazel Demigne, Viola Lester, Alice Lingley, Helen McCall, Velma McMillan, Mabel Mahoney, Helen Merritt, Viola Quinn, Katherine Ragsdale, Eleanor Shaw, Joyce Williams, Dorothy Wright.

SENIORS

HITTING THE BULLSEYE

ARCHERY, 1928

WITH an increase of 16 over last year's enrollment, 112 girls turned out for archery practice this year. These girls were divided into four classes of 28 girls each; 30 to 40 yard shots were practiced and several bullseyes were made. Miss Eugenia Grunsky, girls' archery coach, stated that several intercollegiate contests were to be conducted next year. An exhibition of archery was given on Women's Day.

The girls on the team were:

Glenna Huddle, Mary Roberts, Barbara Kohler, Genette Brockhausen, Daisy Race, Ruth Buchanan.

SWIMMING

SWIMMING, which was made possible for women this year for the first time, due to the construction of the new gymnasium pool, proved to be one of the most popular major sports of the year for girls on the campus.

At the end of the first semester, January 26, the students competed in the first women's swimming meet held at W. S. C. The meet was won by the freshmen with a score of 23 points against 13 for the seniors and 12 for the sophomores.

Virginia Renz, freshman, was high point winner, scoring three first places. The fancy diving contest was won by Mary Maude Hungate, senior. Isabelle Kane, sophomore, was second and Evelyn Hester, freshman, third.

Officials for the meet were: Judges, Georgia Butler, Ethel Phillips, Mary Maxwell, Frances Adams; announcer, Katherine Bernard; clerk of course, Katherine Ragsdale; scorer, Genevieve Goff; manager, Jewel Powers.

Class teams were:

FRESHMAN

SOPHOMORE

Dorothy Penn, Glenna Huddle, Isabel Kane, Katherine Shaeffer, Shirley Brewer, Betty Mortland, Alice Mattern, Rhoda Mahoney, Helen Frederick, Vera Plath.

JUNIOR

Jean Duncan, Miriam Taylor, Helen Swartz, Ardath Mohler, Grace Wilcox, Joan Bailey.

SENIOR

Polly Bostwick, Elizabeth Shapley, Bulah Clark, Mary Maude Hungate.

Shapley Wins Hurdles

TRACK

TWO W. S. C. records were broken in the annual women's track meet which was held in connection with the Women's Day May Fete, May 26, 1928.

Betty Kincheloe broke her own record of 10 seconds for the 75-yard dash by running the distance in 9.9 seconds. The shot-put record of 28 feet 3½ inches, held by Doris Marsolais, was broken by Lillian Clark whose distance was 28 feet 11½ inches.

Elizabeth Shapley had the highest individual score of 16 points. Betty Kincheloe was second with 15 points.

Sophomores won the meet with 36 points; Juniors were second with 29 points; and the Freshmen had 13 points.

Elizabeth Shapley was track manager.

The events with the winners are as follows:

Dash—Betty Kincheloe, 9.9, first; Elizabeth Shapley, second; Katherine Ragsdale, third.

Hurdle—Elizabeth Shapley, 12.8, first; Violet Bixler, second; Katherine Ragsdale, third.

High jump—Anna Pritchard, 4.1¾, first; Dorothy Foley, second; Isabel Kane, third.

Broad Jump—Betty Kincheloe, 14.5, first; Merna Pell, second; Edith Bentley, third.

Hop Step—Jo Gordon, 28 feet, 7 inches, first; Merna Pell, second; Lillian Clark, third.

Shot Put—Lillian Clark, 28.11½, first; Elizabeth Shapley, second; Mildred Fleming, third.

Hurl—Betty Kincheloe, 47.10¾, first; Isabel Kane, second; Violet Bixler, third.

Basketball Throw—Elizabeth Shapley, 75, first; Helen Pell, second; Mable Mahoney, third.

Baseball Throw—Rhoda Mahoney, 177.4, first; Edith Bentley, second; Helen Pells.

Eleven girls won 100 points toward a Crimson "W" sweater. These are: Betty Kincheloe, Anna Pritchard, Elizabeth Shapley, Jo Gordon, Violet Bixler, Dorothy Foley, Merna Pell, Isabel Kane, Kathryn Ragsdale, Mildred Fleming, Mabel Mahoney.

Georgia Butler and Etta Ayers won 25 points toward a sweater.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

LAST year the Physical Education Majors Club, with the cooperation of the physical education department, sponsored the second High School Girls' Athletic Conference held May 26, 1928. The conference was organized by students and teachers of high schools of the state.

Papers, round table discussion and a question box on problems relative to high school athletics for girls were discussed at the morning session. Members of the physical education staff and college and high school students led the discussions.

At noon the delegates were entertained at a luncheon at the Washington hotel, given by the Women's Athletic Association. In the afternoon they were guests at the program for Women's Day.

One of the unusual features of the conference was the dance given by a group of students from Lewis and Clark High School, Spokane. The girls danced, not to music, but to poetry read by Vachel Lindsay and a Lewis and Clark dancing instructor.

HOCKEY

In the hockey games played off in the fall, no team was victorious, as the freshman, sophomore and junior groups each won an equal number of games. Frances Adams acted as coach.

The squad captains and managers were: Freshman, Elizabeth Clapsaddle and Margaret Lyke; Sophomore, Edna Cox, Dorothy Wegner; Junior, Jean Duncan, Merna Pell; Senior, Lillian Clark and Mabel Mahoney.

Bernice Metz Rules May Fete

WOMEN'S DAY

BERNICE METZ was chosen by popular vote of the student body to rule over the festivities of the May Fete at the annual Women's Day, held May 26, 1928, on Rogers' Field, thus marking the 18th year that a senior woman has been crowned May Queen. In her court were Isobel Keeney, maid of honor; Dorothy Siebenbaum, Mabel Madsen, Ruth Allen and Aileen Maguire, attendants. Vivian Harmon acted as herald for the procession, which walked from Tanglewood to the throne through an aisle formed by over 500 girls from the physical education classes.

The program, which began with the crowning of the queen, featured a maypole dance, which was followed by a Swedish doll dance, and a scarf dance, all performed by members of the interpretative dancing classes under the direction of Maurine Hall. Demonstrations of Danish gymnastics, pyramids, and archery were given by physical education majors.

The track and field meet was a major part of the day's activity, and resulted in several outstanding records being made by State College girls.

Several awards were presented during the program, among them being the Theta Sigma Phi cup, given each year to the best all around sophomore worker on college publications, which was won by Beverley Richardson. Eleanor Hyslop was named for the final emblem award of W. A. A., after which pledges of Spurs, sophomore girls' honorary, were announced.

Women's Day committee chairmen were:

DANCE DRAMA, 1929

MUSIC, poetry, literature, and appreciation of the art of dancing, formed the background for the fourth annual Dance Drama of 1929, presented on April 5, under the direction of Miss Maurine Hall of the Physical Education department.

The opening dance was a Frieze, followed by "Magic Fire," a dance suggested by Wagner's opera, "Siegried." The story of "King Midas," who was granted his wish that everything he touched would turn to gold was interpreted. A dance, "Creative Power," was presented to express the purpose and ideal of the Y. W. C. A.

Part II was given over to nursery rhymes and humorous situations of every-day life. Eugene Field's "Winken, Blinken and Nod" formed one of the lighter numbers.

The last act was a dream "Heart of the World," in which a youth, seeking in a dream the heart of the world, learns from the muses that his destination lies in Beauty. At the forest the gnomes tell him the heart of the world is nature. The Norse Gods say that strength and valor are the objects he is seeking. The fairies believe forgetfulness is the thing he is looking for, and they spin a magic ring around him. In his dream the girl he left comes and releases him, and he realizes the folly of such a search, since she has shown him that love is all.

Those taking part were Doris Adley, Joan Bailey, Edith Bentley, Polly Bostwick, Lois Corwin, Josephine Clyde, Gwen Davies, Marjorie Dils, Anna Dynowska, Jean Duncan, Lucille Eckman, Laura George, Kathleen Lynch, Evelyn Mackedon, Helen McEachran, Rhoda Mahoney, Helen Merritt, Petite Muehler, Winnifred Mason, Emily Murray, Rhea Newman, Vera Plath, Dorothy Rinkenberger, Iva Selleg, Leola Smith, Shirley White and Annabelle Quick.

CAMP SWEYOLAKAN

TWENTY-THREE State College girls enjoyed a two weeks' outing and camp training course in recreation leadership, from June 9 to 17, at Camp Sweyolakan on Mica Bay, Lake Coeur d'Alene.

Sweyolakan is one of the best equipped camps in the northwest and includes seventeen acres of land with a waterfront one mile long. The camp, which is owned and operated during the summer by the Inland Empire Campfire Girls, was loaned to the Physical Education department of the State College and the guardian's association of Spokane, for the purpose of conducting this course.

All major students in physical education, campfire guardians of the Pacific northwest, and a limited number of other persons of proved leadership in recreation activities could enroll in the camp course for the fee of $17.

The instruction for the two weeks was planned to teach camp craft, organization, and program building through lectures and actual participation, and is expected to meet the needs of leaders in recreation fields, of physical education teachers, and of women wishing to become camp counsellors. Credit equivalent to two hours of college work was given.

Directors for the period were Miss Helen G. Smith, head of the physical education department and Mrs. Dorothy Bean Humbird, Campfire executive for the Inland Empire.

Other instructors were:

The Cougar Guard Chapter of Intercollegiate Knights was established on this campus in 1923. Intercollegiate Knights is a particularly western organization, having only 7 chapters located in the following schools, University of Washington, University of Oregon, University of Idaho, University of Montana, University of Utah, Oregon State College and Washington State College. In response to the need for a body to uphold and preserve college traditions and standards Intercollegiate Knights was founded. Service, Sacrifice and Loyalty are the principles upon which the order is based and thru which it operates. The receiving of visiting athletes, the aiding in all school activities are examples of the duties prescribed and identified in the workings of Intercollegiate Knights.

GAMMA PHI

GYMNASTIC HONORARY

Established 1927

In every group of young men whether it be in the college world or in the business world, there are certain individuals who have a natural ability for gymnastic work who would never make use of this ability without some stimulus to carry them forward. Gamma Phi is organized primarily for these individuals.

The Gymnasium Club in former years presented to the student body at various times short programs for snappy gymnastic work. During the last few semesters Gamma Phi has carried out this work with increased interest, and in a more polished style made possible by more adequate facilities and a more complete organization.

ORCHESUS

DANCING

Established 1923

What it is: The name Orchesus is taken from the Greek, meaning to dance. Orchesus is a club held together by a spirit expressed in the joy and beauty of the dance. Technique and scholarship are required for membership but entrance is gained through enthusiasm and a love for the beautiful.

Purpose: Orchesus has been established under the supervision of the Women's Physical Education department as an honorary dancing club to develop a creative and intellectual attitude toward dancing as one of the arts, and to further the movement of the dance as an educational activity.

MEN'S BIG FIVE

DON PHIPPS, Big Chief

James Gilleland
Jack Littlemore
Stanley Peterson
Howard Bowen

Every student enrolled at W. S. C. turns out to clean up the campus first with rakes and shovels and later with knives and forks when campus day shows up on the Calendar of Events. The work is directed by members of the men's and women's big fives, who are chosen from the most outstanding seniors in school. These people are generally selected from among those who have been prominent in extra-curricular activities, and who have maintained a high position in student circles.

Following the noon feed a program is held in the auditorium at which time several honoraries select pledges. A varsity athletic contest on Rogers Field closes the day's schedule.

YOUTH—radiant with love of life; Youth—that laughs and dreams and believes that dreams come true—. What came ye here to seek?

Learning, say ye? Wisdom for the future. Aye—we grant ye that.

Yet what of Laughter and Companionship? What of your own Life while ye are here? Forget not to gather something of each gift this Interlude of Learning holds—for years are short—and slip away as quietly as dusk slips into night and ends the day.

So while ye are here, Oh Youth with radiant dreams, seek ye always, memories of beauty.

For memories will live forever and forever.

MEMORIES are always waiting somewhere—just back of the hill of Life—to come out and be alive again! It doesn't matter what kind of memories they are. The good ones and the bad ones wait together. And so we must be very careful to gather each of the beautiful thoughts and tuck them away on the tip-top—so they'll come out first. And perhaps we may find so many lovely things to remember—that the unpleasant things will be crowded out—and we will have only the happy memories to keep us company in the lonely times.

. . . . . Long, long be our lives with such memories filled . . . . Like a vase in which roses have once been distilled. . . . . You may break, you may shatter the vase . . . if you will . . . But the scent of the roses will cling to it, still . . . . .

Humor

For They Know Not What They Speak...

It is Our most Humble wish that this Crude effort at Punning has been Taken in the Spirit in Which it was Meant—and That is an Impersonal friendly spirit of Fun anyway it is Always good to Remember that the Ability to be Able to Laugh off a Good joke that was Meant for you is the Surest proof of Innocence and Good sportsmanship and All those Desirable qualities and then Too the People that Make the jokes on Other people deserve Somebody's sympathetics Equally as much as Others because They have to work Just as hard writing Things that aren't Funny and Don't make people Laugh and Besides they Never get Any Thanks Anyhow.

IDOL SCRANTON.

ALPHA CHI

If I were but a nightingale
I'd warble e'er I die
Or else I'd buy myself a harp
And be an Alpha Chi.

ALPHA DELTA PI

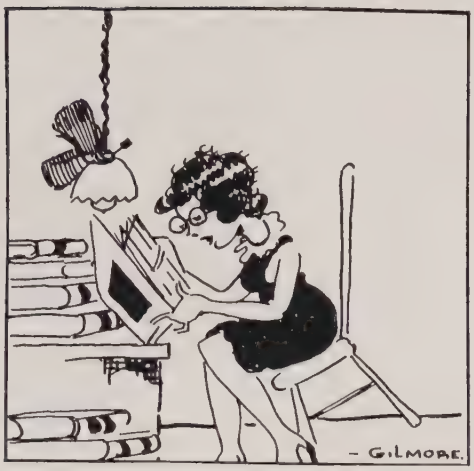
I've heard it said that A. D. Pi's,
Although they change their minds,
Should see that minds are all they change,
Since they won't pull down their blinds.

ALPHA GAMMA

The Alpha Gamma's are nice girls,
But living where they do—
They must be P. E. majors,
I leave it up to you!

ALPHA XI DELTA

I've heard of Alpha Xi Delta's
I've heard their technique's good,
But since I'm here for knowledge—
I wonder if I should?

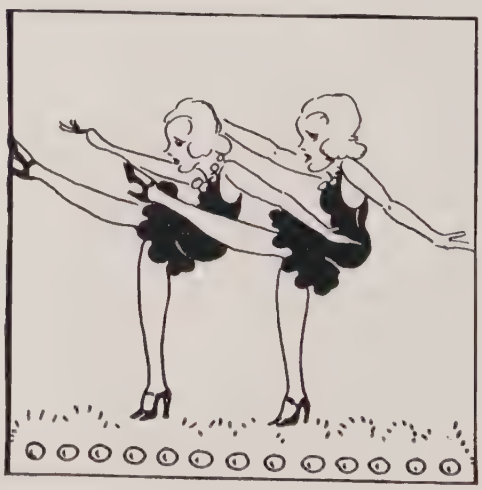


CHI OMEGA

The Chi Omega so 'tis said
Once took an awful slump
But according to the ratings,
They must have made a jump.

TRI DELT

If you've an urge to do your bit,
Upon the speaking stage,
You should really be a Tri Delt,
To be the campus rage!



Spoken Meditations of a Hungry Co-ed

(Setting—The Evening repast in any Tong-house)

Well for—Would you take a Look at these Victuals now Wouldn't we just Have to have Canned grass and Hard boiled eggs on the Only night that I'm Apt to Have an Appetite for Ages to come it's Enough to take away a Persons desire for Food entirely I wonder What it would be like to have a Revolving take or something Anything to keep from Passing this Stuff along Indefinitely then Everything oughta come About naturally I wonder what Everyone would Think if I should get up and Leave the table with my Nose In the air it Would be Dramatic but I never Could see how anyone Ever had the Nerve to Especially a Frosh I suppose I'll just Have to sit here and Act like I'm enjoying my Food but it Sure makes me Annoyed well for—will she Ever bite I wanna Get this Struggle Over with.

slogan:—Do you have one in Your fraternity? If not. Why not.

DID YOU?

Night comes! Another day is sped
A day like all the rest
I didn't give a crumb of bread
To someone in distress.

I didn't work, I didn't read
I didn't lift a hand
To do a single useful deed
But God will understand.

For when I've reached that golden place
He will look down and say
Walk in my son and receive my grace
And sit with me I pray.

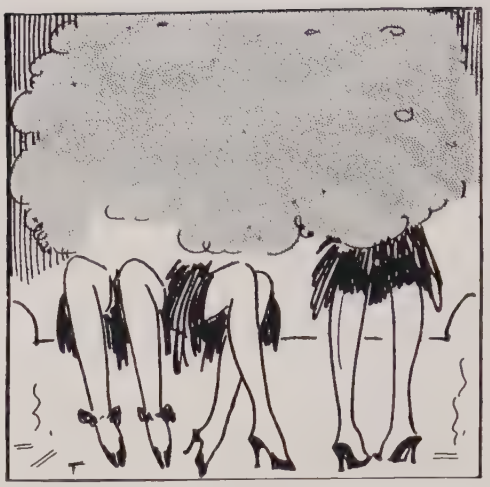
These up and doing men all try
To run my world awhiles
And I was glad when you sat by
And didn't cramp my style.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

The Thetas are a one keen bunch,
But tell me is it true,
That when the girls all gather 'round
The air gets thick and blue?

PI PHI

I'd like to be a Pi Phi
But this seems odd to me—
That some Pi Phi's appear so blind
And some refuse to see.



KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

I wouldn't mind to be attached
To the key of K. K. G.
But their style of hospital-ity
Is not the style for me.

SIGMA KAPPA

The Sigma Kappa's worry me
I can't just say for why
But maybe such a fur-coat clan
Is chilling to the eye.

Just one oX The —

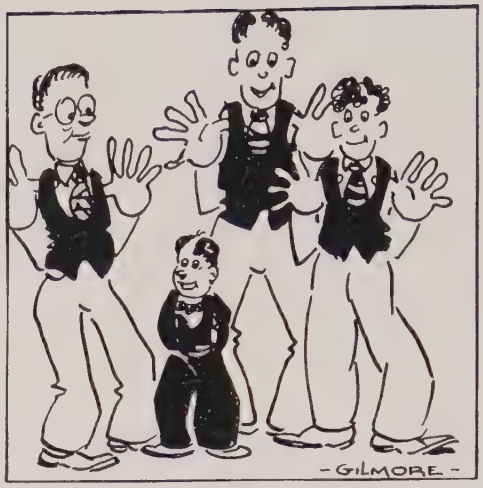
West Point

THE REBELS ARE COMING!

The A. T. O's, after moving into a new playhouse, have resorted to cradle snatching. The exact motive is a little doubtful to decide. The question is—do they consider themselves as being fine enough specimens of young manhood to provide the best environmental training for a growing child—or—are they contemplating raising him on a bottle (to the rank of other bottle babies.) At any rate you'll have to hand it to the child wonder. It isn't every guy that can win himself fame on the Woman's Glee Club—and be a man for all a' that!



Alpha Tau Omega

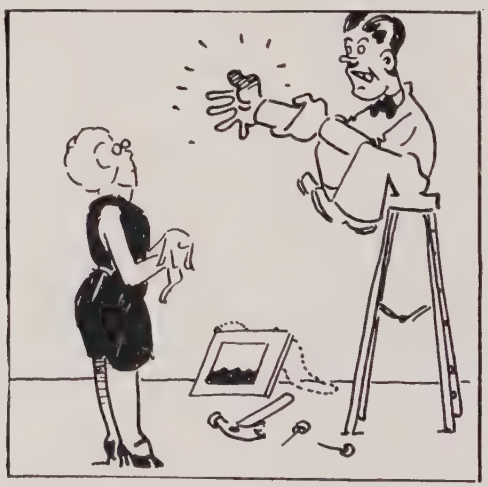
Beta Theta Pi

THE KNICKERS THAT BLOOM IN THE SPRING TRA-LA

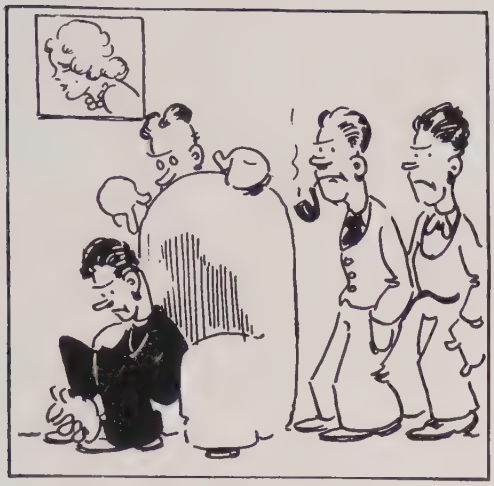
And then came the dawn—bearing in its wake—Beta picnics, Beta "plus fours" and Beta frolickings on the green. (Much to the chagrin of the quiet-loving Pi Phi's who must suffer, but not in silence when their slumbers are so rudely awakened at the crack of the dawn!) And with it all comes the realization that if one must be hellish and play ball in the street one must pay the price (one buck) and get packed off to the city jug as further evidence of humiliation and disgrace.

AND A WOMAN WAS THE CAUSE

Whose bizness is it if the Kappa Sigs want to give pink teas and et cetera, maybe they want to acquire some social poise and whatnot—the life of the Vet is kind of rotten at times—but having a housemother does encourage the tendency to do bigger and better things, and at least it teaches one to think twice before speaking—which oftentimes has its advantages.



Kappa Sigma



Phi Delta Theta

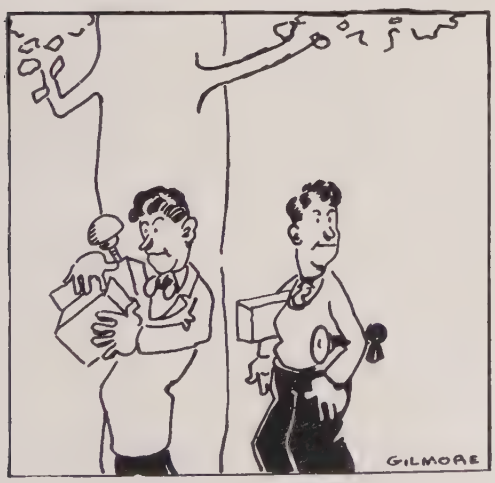
AND ALL THE BROTHERS ARE VALIANT

Of all the groups that are possessed with that loyalty-to-the-last quality—take the Phi Delts, for instance. They are positively instilled with that brotherly love. As an agency for issuing condolence to the love-lorn—they have risen to the ranks of only such as Beatrice Fairfax and others. And even if the sympathy expresses itself in a slightly ruthless manner at times—and the unwilling object upon whom the loving regard is showered seems unappreciative—the interest is there nevertheless!

THEY TOOK UP BRIDGE

It seems that the S. A. E.'s have taken up bridge as a diversion to the extent that they keep at it until the wee small hours of the morn each night. Can it be they are contemplating challenging the Ladies' Aid Society, or is it merely a form of securing solace far away from the more serious things in college life?

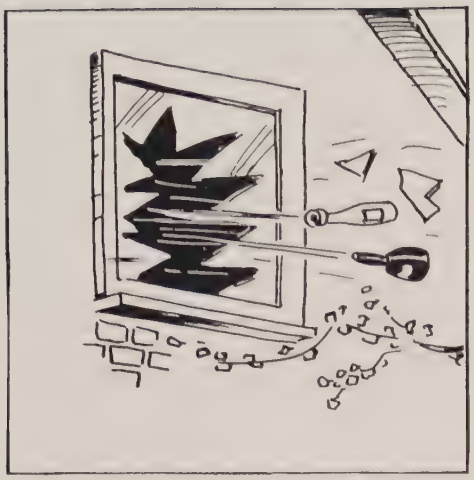
Sigma Alpha Epsilon



Sigma Chi

HAVE YOU ONE IN YOUR HOME?

There's nothing like being individual, and the Sigma Chi's have gone in for collecting—only their tastes don't seem to run to antiques—but who cares?—all's well that ends well.



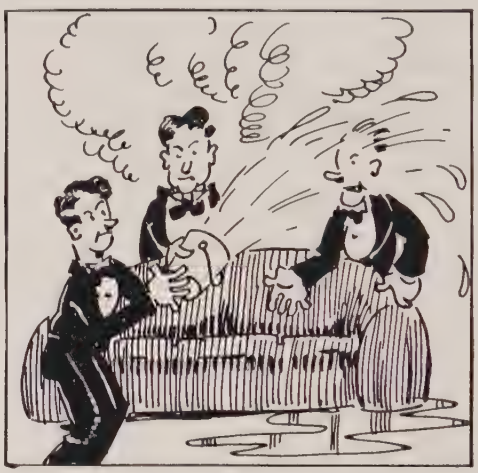
Sigma Nu

THERE WAS A BURLY ATHLETE

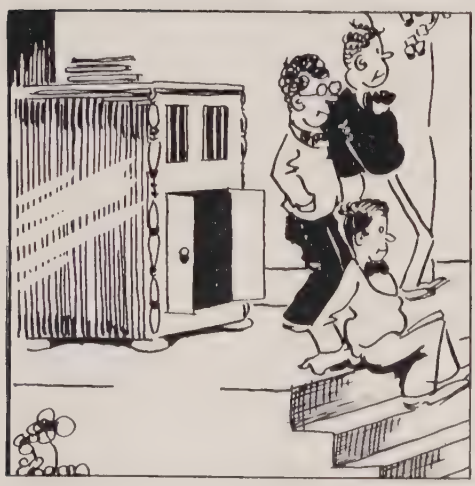
—wonder how all the windows in the dormitory of the Sigma Nu house got busted around Xmas vacation time—of course it could have been shoes, or milk bottles or et cetera—and then too, Xmas vacation was a long time ago and the windows were fixed right away. Which reminds us of their self instilled motto—"We're the clan what gets our man."

FIRE! FIRE! TURN THE HOSE ON ME!

Nothing like a little sensation—in case of fire one can always call out the Theta Chi fire extinguishers—they will serve promptly a' la' boiled shirt et cetera. Some Ritz!



Theta Chi



Tau Kappa Epsilon

With the warmer days the T. K. E.'s are quick to take advantage of any opportunity to look over the sorority pins—so they move the old graphaphone out on the veranda where they can get a good view of Campus Life to the tune of "Where Ja Get Those Eyes?"

FOREWORD

To Walter Irvine, of the Western Engraving and Colortype Company, W. A. McMahon, of the Inland-American Printing Company, and to the firms represented in this advertising section, the Chinook staff owes much of whatever success this book may be. It is hoped that the students of the State College show appreciation for the hearty cooperation accorded their publication by patronizing these advertisers.

TO BE ASSURED OF A HAPPY HOME

WITH MUSIC IS AN INVITING GLANCE INTO THE FUTURE

A Piano that you will love as long as you live. As the years come and go you are constantly making new friends and bidding old ones good-bye. You are discomforted to lose them, but then you always have one friend that will remain steadfast—clear to the end of the road—your Vose—a lasting happiness—as faithful and as true in tone as the day it came into your life.

From its inception over three-quarters of a century ago, the Vose has won the admiration and approval of the musical public because of Vose durability and exquisite tone quality. Its finely fashioned styles—including beautiful period creations—afford that taste of design, so welcomed by the discriminating purchaser. A musical value not obtainable elsewhere at anything near our moderate prices.

FRANK FORMAN,

He (gazing fondly at his newly acquired fiancee): "Did the girls like your ring?"

She: "Hm-m—they not only admired it—but two of 'em recalled where they'd seen it before."

— W. S. C. —

They sat alone on the davenport
And she murmured in one big ear
"I know I've traveled a lot too fast.
But I'm on my last lap, dear."

— W. S. C. —

He said I'm fond of Kipling
She murmured with a smile
Tell me more big he-man,
I surely like your style.
She came a little closer,
This torrid little shrew
And said "I've never kippled
But I think I'll like it, too."

Spring, spring, be-yoo-ti-ful spring!
Now you're here, you darling thing!
Soon the swelling buds will bust,
And the birds will sing I trust.
No more furnace, no more friz,
Gee, how glad I certainly is!

— W. S. C. —

When a girl says you're different, it's a sure sign she isn't.

— W. S. C. —

All smokers are inveterate,
Their vice becomes inured,
For only a ham can smoke and smoke,
And smoking, still be cured.

"You say financial troubles brought you here?" asked the hospital visitor. "Why, that's hardly possible!"

"It's a fact, though," retorted the bed-ridden dealer. "I was crossing to the other side of the street to avoid one of my creditors and there was another on the other side. While I was trying to escape, a car hit me."

A farmer and his wife were standing before their pigsty, looking at their only pig, when the old lady said: "Say, John, tomorrow will be our silver wedding. Let's kill the pig."

John replied with disgust: "What is the use of punishing a poor pig for what we did twenty-five years ago?"

REMINISCENCE

As I sit here along with my knitting
And a cat at my feet by the blaze
I recall, but with bitter misgivings
The scenes of my old college days.

A Frosh at the old Alma Mater
I soon was the campus rage
For of all the co-eds I was fairest
And then I was proud of my age.

My first great love was a Phi Delt
At least I thought it was great
But I two-timed and stepped with a brother
And I regretted my action too late.

Then I played around with a Kappa Sig,
And I tried for a while to be square,
And I was till I fell for a Sigma Chi
But it seemed that I couldn't play fair.

From an S. A. E. to a Theta Chi,
Then a Beta, a Sigma Nu,
An A. T. O.—they were all keen men,
But somehow the affairs fell thru.

They say—girls go to college for husbands,
And sometimes they're known to succeed,
But as a matrimonial bureau
College is sure the weeds.

For here I sit with my knitting
And the years roll by me fast
For I've learned too late that a man on hand
Is worth a dozen or more in the past!

—Idol Scranton.

The
STATE COLLEGE of WASHINGTON
Founded March 28, 1890

THE PULLMAN HERALD
Established November 3, 1880

Two pioneer institutions that have grown from swaddling clothes to sturdy manhood side by side.

Two institutions that have enjoyed close companionship for over a third of a century, developing an enduring friendship that had its inception during the early periods of adversity in the history of each and which has prevailed through the more abundant intervening years.

The Pullman Herald, one of the few business concerns in Pullman the advent of which antedated the establishment of the State College, is fully appreciative of the leading part which the college has played in the progress and development of Pullman and the Inland Empire and the generous contribution is has made toward the growth of this newspaper and the job printing plant in connection.

Our hope is that we may merit a continuation of the liberal patronage of the past and that the long period of friendship may remain unbroken through the years of the future.
